NAME MURPHY
ONLY AN ALIASMan Accused of Obtaining Money
Under False Pretenses by Gasoline Deal is Lee Lynn.

HE IS WANTED IN ILLINOIS

Faces Charge of Forgery in Havana, Ill.—Want to Come For Him.

Roy Murphy, who was arrested here last week when caught in a gasoline swindle and who pleaded not guilty to the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses Saturday afternoon before Judge Blair, is wanted in at least two Illinois towns. The police believe they have made a good "catch," as no telling how many more places he is wanted.

Incidentally the name Murphy is only an alias, his real name being Lee Lynn. In response to inquiries sent out by Chief McAllister, two telegrams have been received each asking that Lee Lynn be held until requisition papers could be obtained, when he would be taken to Illinois. His record, however, is all the police want as he will be tried here and not sent back to the scenes of his first crimes.

The first telegram was from Nokomis, Ill., but did not state on what charge Murphy or Lynn was wanted. The second came from Havana, Ill., and stated he was wanted for forgery. The accused man had admitted to the police that his name is Lynn. He was caught in this when he addressed a letter to his father giving his name as Lynn.

Murphy, alias Lynn, is also a married man according to his statement made to the police. From remarks he has made the police suspect he is wanted for wife desertion as he said he had only been married three months when he came here. It was first thought he had gotten by with more than $363.10 in his 1 1/2 cent a gallon gasoline deal, but no more has been found. The police are awaiting a more detailed description of his crimes in Illinois. The police at both towns heard from promised to send his record by mail and more developments can be expected.

ters at Hotel and is Found by Reporter.

KEEPS EVERYBODY ON HUMP

Some time between last evening and this morning a comparative stranger in this locality stepped into "Nature's Hotel," removed his gloves and registered. Immediately there was a scurrying of feet as the hotel employees found him a room, looked after his baggage and planned to make him comfortable as best they could.

About that time a reporter strolled into the hotel lobby, glanced at the register and then became interested, because he saw the stranger had signed his name in a flowing hand—Jack Frost.

PRESIDES AT CLOSING

W. H. Wylie is Officer in Charge at
M. E. Conference.

The Rev. W. H. Wylie, pastor of the St. Paul M. E. church, presided at the closing session of the Indiana M. E. conference at Jeffersonville this afternoon. The meeting was devoted to a speech by Charles W. Faribanks, former vice-president of the United States. The occasion was the Methodist hospital memorial. The assignments were to be read today. It is presumed that the Rev. M. Wylie will be returned here as a request has been made that he be sent back.

SHELTON COMES ACROSS FOR TAFTKnightstown Attorney Renounces His Allegiance to Democratic Party
—to Support Republican.

SAYS IT IS HIS ONLY COURSE

James L. Shelton, the wellknown Knightstown attorney, who has long been identified with the Democratic party in several important capacities, has renounced his allegiance to that political organization and states that at the next election he will cast his vote for William H. Taft and the Republican ticket, says the New Castle Courier.

"The country is too prosperous and conditions are too good to make a change in the management of the country's affairs," declared Mr. Shelton. "I therefore cannot vote for Woodrow Wilson and support the Democratic platform and its principles. Neither am I in sympathy with the socialistic and wild doctrines of Theodore Roosevelt and his bull moose principles. Therefore, there is but one course for me to take and that is to vote for William H. Taft."

Mr. Shelton's announcement was made in this city and was enthusiastically received by the Republican leaders. His action shows the trend of political affairs and indicates that the people have returned to safe and sane manner of thinking.

Mr. Shelton says he has seen the country become prosperous and the people contented under Republican administrations and consequently there was but one course for him to pursue—help maintain that condition.

Mr. Frost made his first appearance of the fall here this morning. He brought with him a large amount of thin, white paint and he used this in decorating the landscape, the garden truck, trees, etc. The paint is pretty, but when it is applied in sufficient quantities it kills vegetation.

To a reporter Mr. Frost said he did not know exactly how long he would remain here. He said he was traveling in advance of his majesty, King winter, and that he had been delayed in so many places he was late in arriving here. He is headed south but will either return here in person or send his agents to do their decorating work each night for the next several weeks.

The first appearance of frost this fall is not believed to have hurt growing things. The mercury dropped to 40 degrees Sunday night and this morning, but it is not thought the frost was one of the killing kind.

PAY YOUR DEBTS
AND GET RIGHTDr. W. E. Biederwolf Admonishes the Church Members in Order to Make Campaign Prosper.

TALKS BRIEFLY AT OPENING

Promises to Have Tabernacle Warm
For the Next Service, Tuesday
Night—None on Monday.

"If the church members of Rushville will spend a good part of the night on their knees and then walk down town the next morning and pay their debts the simultaneous campaign in Rush county will be bounteously successful," was the declaration of Dr. W. E. Biederwolf at the opening of the revival in the Big tabernacle Sunday night.

He said it was essential that the church members get right before a revival could prosper. He pointed out that if the average merchant were asked to identify himself with the church, he said no, and showed lots of his bad accounts were owed by church members.

Dr. Biederwolf talked only fifteen minutes last night because of the chilly atmosphere and the lack of any heating apparatus. He promised that the tabernacle would be completed, and that stoves to heat it would be provided by Tuesday night. No services will be held on Monday nights during the meeting, but will be held all other nights, including Saturday. After this week afternoon meetings will be held. The evangelist said sawdust would be put on the ground under the seats so the health of the people in the audience would not be imperiled.

Dr. Biederwolf devoted a few moments last night to saying a few things to the critics. He said church members who had found fault with the campaign must line up on one side or the other. He asserted the meeting would be criticized by all the blacklegs, booze fighters and other people opposed to the church, and that if church members wanted to get on that side, come out in the open and do so.

The evangelist devoted most of the short talk to the admonition to the church members to get right. He said Rushville would have been converted long ago if good ministers would do, with the added comment that congregations shut their pastors up in ice boxes and expect them to sweat.

A parade of children will be held next Saturday afternoon and a parade of the grownups is contemplated later in the campaign. The first cottage prayer meetings will be held Tuesday morning. Collections will be taken each night until the overhead expenses are settled. Dr. Biederwolf introduced each of the party of six.

E. C. Miller, second basso in the quartet, will have charge of the entire State evangelistic campaign, of which this is the first. Here he will be in charge of all meetings outside the tabernacle, such as the factory, street and school meetings. James Heaton, second tenor and soloist, is business manager and in general charge of the Rushville campaign. William McEwan, first tenor and soloist, has charge of the chorus work. Carl Ligett is pianist and first basso. Miss May Marshall, personal worker, will have charge of the Bible study and work with girls and women. Don Cochran is in charge of the tabernacle and advertising.

NEW INDUSTRY
TO START SOONBase Ball Score Card Factory Employing 150 People Begins Operation October 21.

WILL PERRY, THE PROMOTER

Capacity of Plant Will be One Million
Cards Per Day—Comes After Eight Years.

The new industry, which promises to be a big thing for Rushville, will be opened October 21. It is the manufacture of a base ball score card, the invention of Will Perry. The score card is a wonder and next season will see it at every league park in the country, no matter how large or small.

The immensity of the industry can be gleaned from the capacity of the factory which will be located in Arthur street next to the C. H. & D. railway. The factory when in operation will employ 150 people and will have an output of one million score cards per day. The factory and manufacture of the cards is the realization of eight years labor on the part of Will Perry, the inventor and owner of the card.

Work on the factory will start this week and it is hoped to have everything in readiness by October 21. The factory will be modern in every respect. The printing presses, five in number are a special made type. The presses are to be automatically fed and besides printing the cards, has an eye-letting attachment and also a cutter. Besides the factory employing 150 people, Mr. Perry will open a down-town office over the Betker pool room which will require the services of 20 people. The office will be the main one of the factory and all the business will be handled from this city. Mr. Perry plans to put ten salesmen in each State.

"I expect to put out one million of the cards a day," said Mr. Perry this morning, "and I don't say this because I want to sell stock because there is none for sale. I am putting all I have in this and will be the sole owner."

Mr. Perry has a world of confidence in his score card and so have all that have seen it. The score card will be introduced for the first time at the world's series. Mr. Perry will leave tomorrow for New York and will look after the business of disposing of 600,000 of the cards at Boston and New York during the coming games. Two hundred thousand will be disposed of in Chicago at the series between the Cubs and the White Sox.

The score card itself is a wonder and so accurate does it record the plays that it seems almost human. For eight years Mr. Perry studied and labored on the invention. A ball player himself, Mr. Perry knew the game and with this inside knowledge started to perfect a score card that would be appreciated by the public. The card is ten inches square and is marked off in the shape of a ball diamond. The positions of the nine players are marked off and by the turn of a dial each play is recorded. The card is not complicated and is so arranged that every fan if he so desires can keep a box score of the game.

Mr. Perry presented the card to the National commission and so much did they think of it that it was adopted for the betterment of the national game. The commission was deeply impressed by the card, and asked Perry to record many almost impossible plays on the card. Any play Tom Lynch could name was shown on the score card and in the end the "powers that be" in base ball adopted it.

Mr. Perry worked on the theory that the score card advertisers would pay more money for a place on a card that was permanent than on one which is cheaply constructed and is in use today. The plan he advances is to let the ball club secure the advertisements and buy the cards direct from the plant here ready for distribution. Each day the fans will be given a card free of charge by the ball club and instead of being a cheap affair will be something worth keeping.

The card for the world series were printed by a Dayton firm.

WOMAN ARRESTED
ON TWO CHARGESMrs. Minnie Montgomery Arraigned in Circuit Court This Morning on Grand Jury Indictments.

PLEADED NOT GUILTY TO BOTH

Mrs. Minnie Montgomery, living in the western part of the city, was arrested this morning by Sheriff Bebout on two grand jury indictments, one charging her with contributing to delinquency and the other with running a house of ill fame. Mrs. Montgomery was arraigned before Judge Blair and pleaded not guilty. She was taken to jail in default of $150 bond. Shortly before Mrs. Montgomery was arraigned in court a divorce suit in which she is the defendant, was set for trial Friday morning. Her husband, John Montgomery, is bringing the suit which was filed during the summer vacation. Nothing much of importance was done in court today.

PURPLE AND OLD
GOLD SHOW COLORSMerchants Will be Asked to Decorate Uniformly For Fall Event—
Prizes For Corn.

$30 IN PREMIUMS OFFERED

Old gold and purple have been selected for the horse show colors, which event will be held Wednesday and Thursday, October 16 and 17. Each merchant will be supplied with samples of the colors so that the decorations will all be uniform.

It was announced today that prizes would be offered for two kinds of corn at the show. A first premium of ten dollars will be given the best half bushel of yellow corn. A second prize of five dollars will be given. The same prizes will be given for a similar quantity of white corn.

W. A. Jones has assigned fifteen head of high class horses to the combination sale which will be held at the Davis sale barn in conjunction with the show. The sale will be for two days this year, the two following the horse show. Heretofore the sale has been for one day only.

PROHIBITION MEETING.

A Prohibition meeting will be held here next Saturday. A conference will be held at two o'clock in the afternoon in the court house and the speaker will be I. N. Grisse of Indianapolis.

THEIR ANNIVERSARY.

The Rebekahs will celebrate their anniversary Friday night, Sept. 27, with degree work and a basket supper. Members of the Falmouth lodge will be there as guests.

FORMER PASTOR
IS NOMINATEDGurliel Gensen of Shelbyville is Named as Bull Moose Candidate
For Congress.

FIRST ONE WAS KICKED OUT

Few Delegations Have Required Number—Four Delegates From
Rush County Attend.

In less than an hour after the second Bull Moose convention of the Sixth district came to order in Connersville this morning, the Rev. Gurliel Gensen of Shelbyville, formerly pastor in the Indiana M. E. conference, was nominated for congress by acclamation, there being no contest. The Rev. Mr. Gensen once preached at Falmouth for two years. He has retired from the ministry due to failing eyesight and has gone in for politics.

The people ruled in this convention as they are supposed to in all Bull Moose conventions. There were less than a hundred people in the Odd Fellows hall, where it was held, and there were few, if any full delegations. Wayne county apparently had the only delegation in which there was the required number of delegates. Whenever a vote was taken, a motion was made, and carried, to instruct the secretary to vote the entire vote of the convention.

Rush county was about as well off, apparently, as any other county in the district. Less than one-third of the delegation from this county was present. Ben L. McFarlan, county chairman, led the herd of Moose, which consisted of three, J. M. Gwinn of this city, Dawsie Callihan of Walker township and Will Trowbridge of Washington township.

Franklin and Henry were just as good as Rush. They each had four. The Henry county delegation was composed of the county chairman, W. R. Wilson, Rider R. Steele, Robert Holsinger and Joseph A. Greenstreet, the deposed candidate who was fairly and honestly nominated at the first convention held in Richmond September 3.

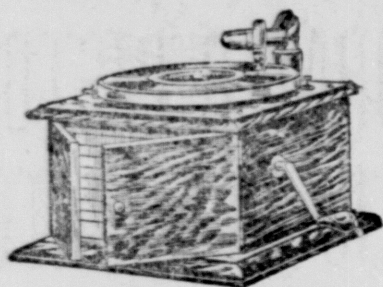

After several slight hints, during the speeches, were thrown to Greenstreet that he should get up and lay bare the delicate fact that he had no sore spots as the result of being kicked out by the district bosses, Greenstreet arose to the occasion manfully. He declared that many people thought he really ought to be sore, but that he wasn't. He said there were men in the convention with whom he had fought over the ground of the charges preferred against him, and with whom he would do the same thing again if necessary, but that he felt he should not sacrifice his party's principles for personal feelings.

The convention was opened by Rudolph leads, the district chairman, who read the resignation of Greenstreet. A Wayne county delegate promptly moved the action of the first convention be rescinded and that Greenstreet's resignation be received. Ben McFarlan offered a second to the motion. The chairman ruled the motion out of order, because the election of officers came first. Tom Stoops of Connersville was elected chairman and Rider Steele of Newcastle, secretary.

The Wayne county delegate finally got in his motion and the Henry county chairman, before the question was put, read a letter, which he said should be made public in all fairness to Greenstreet, and in which Greenstreet asserted he would not make the race for the second nomination. Hunt of Wayne county questioned the necessity of rescinding the ac-

NATION PLANS TO HONOR RILEY

Hoosier Poet Will be Center of Greatest Ovation Ever Tendered American Writer.

SECOND WEEK OF OCTOBER

Greatest of Indiana's Men of Letters

Recovers in Health—Oct. 7

His Birthday.

During the second week of October, James Whitcomb Riley, the beloved Hoosier poet, will be the center of the greatest ovation ever tendered an American writer.

October 7th is the poet's birthday
but owing to the fact that the celebration in his honor will be of such proportions that it will be impossible to confine it to one day, it has been decided to extend it over a period of six days beginning on Monday, October 7th, and ending Saturday, October 12th. Indianapolis, Mr. Riley's home, has taken the lead in this event, but the movement has spread like wildfire and it is doubtful whether there is a city or town in the United States which will not have one or more events scheduled in honor of the poet, who, through the medium of his verses, has struck a responsive chord in every breast and has succeeded in bringing poetry home to the people. Riley programs have long been popular with literary clubs, and during Riley week these programs
will take on an added interest. Mr.
Riley is widely known for his love of children. Like his great predecessor, Longfellow, he has been able to fathom the beauties of the child nature better than most men, and many of his best poems have been written for or about children. For this reason "Riley Week" will be generally observed in the schools with special exercises.

Mr. Riley is now enjoying excellent health. The paralysis which manifested itself in his right arm
more than a year ago is rapidly disappearing and he says he feels as well as he ever did in his life. Every day he takes a long ride in and about Indianapolis and the surrounding country in his big touring car,
and he is known as an enthusiastic motorist. He is always happy and is unusually surrounded by a group of close friends.

No man in America has more friends than James Whitcomb Riley.
During the years he traveled as a lecturer he met thousands of people, who, attracted by his magnetic personality, became warmly attached to
him. There are hundreds of thousands more who have never met him personally, but who are his friends
nevertheless. They are the ones who have been reached by his verse, for so sympathetic is this great man that it would be hard indeed to find a man, woman or child who does not appreciate Riley.

Although Mr. Riley is recognized as a great poet by critics of the sternest school, he prefers to be known as a humble singer who raises his voice that humanity may be benefitted by a little of life's sunshine. He has found the good elements of everything and so optimistic is his philosophy that he has never found it necessary even to hint at the sordid things of life. This is one of the reason why he has won so large an audience and why, when he was simply writing a daily column
of verse for an Indianapolis newspaper long before his name was well known, he attracted the attention of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

There is no more popular man in Indianapolis than James Whitcomb
Riley, and this popularity does not come merely from the fact that he is a world figure. He was popular long before he was famous and when in his presence one forgets the fact that he is the greatest American poet. He is just a man simple, unassuming, likable. His fellow townsmen have always taken pride in doing him honor, and that pride will be greater than ever during the celebration of "Riley Week."

President Taft Receives Strange Communication Wherein Writer Says He'll Bolt Ticket.

PLANS IN THE EMPIRE STATE

(Special to the Daily Republican.)

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 23.—Every day finds President Taft's mail filled with letters from prominent Progressives and Democrats who announce their intention of bolting their ticket and voting for the President in November. A letter received by the President this week is from a big New York Democrat who says "they would mob me, if they knew me." It says: "Mr. President, I like you, even though you are a Republican and I an Irish Democrat. You have made good and the fellows that are trying to down you don't mean it half the time, but, like yours truly, they are 'afraid to come out in the open.'
You deserve well of the American people and of the sincere and cordial of that fraction of them living in the Empire State. The Democrats are going to name a losing ticket in this State for the purpose of controlling the city election next year, and the winning of the Republican State ticket will mean thousands of votes for Smiling Big Bill."

G. A. R. TO HELP BROWN.

(Special to the Daily Republican.)
Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 23.—Members of the G. A. R. all over the State are assuring their former commander-in-chief, Gen. R. B. Brown, Republican nominee for Governor of Ohio, that they are going to work for his election in November, and do everything else he wants done. Gen.
Brown has asked his followers to go after Roosevelt and the Democrats roughshod in the course of the campaign. "That will please me most," writes the General to his friends.

ELECTORS IN NEVADA.

(Special to the Daily Republican.)
Carson, Nev., Sept. 23.—All questions regarding the putting of Taft electors on the State ticket this fall have been settled to the complete satisfaction of the Republicans. The State convention has decided that and leaders of the party in Nevada state that the Progressives are beginning to turn to Taft, because they see the hopelessness of the Bull Moose movement, and under no circumstances would cast their votes for Wilson.

SERIOUS ERROR IN RUSHVILLE

Rushville Citizens Will do Well to Profit by the Following.

Many fatal cases of kidney disease have reached an incurable stage because the patient did not understand the symptoms. Even today in Rushville, there are many residents making the same serious error. They attribute their mysterious aches and pains to overwork, or worry, perhaps, when all the time their rheumatic pains, backache and bladder irregularities are most probably due to weak and ailing kidneys. If you are ill, if your kidneys are out of order, profit by this Rushville resident's experience.

Mrs. William Merrill, 332 W. Fourth street, Rushville, Ind., says: "I suffered for quite awhile from weakness in my back. I had a dull pain over my kidneys, often accompanied by headaches. The simplest of my household duties was a burden. I finally got Doan's Kidney Pills at Johnson's Drug Store and used them.
They proved their merits by entirely relieving me."

AMUSEMENTS

At the Murat Theatre, Indianapolis, entire week of September 23d, the attraction will be "Within the Law," Bayard Veiller's intensely interesting
new play of absorbing heart interest, presented under the managerial direction of A. H. Woods, who is favorably known to theatre goers as sponsor for "Madam Sherry," "The Fascinating Widow" and other of the most memorable successes of recent years.

In this thrilling drama of life of the present time in a large city, Mr.
Veiller has placed on the stage the career of a young woman who has served a prison sentence for a crime unjustly fastened on her. Upon being freed she finds that the penitentiary taint cannot be shaken off, and is compelled to take to the pavements, or develop a new mode of life along criminal lines, but just out of reach of the officers of the law. This latter course she adopts, acquiring amazing ingenuity and prey-ing upon society almost at will, yet avoiding punishment by remaining always "within the law," using its falsities and technicalities to guard her against police interference. "Within the Law" has a strong human appeal and brings out with engrossing, dramatic emphasis certain often discussed phases of modern metropolitan life such as industrial slavery, sociology, questionable police practices and the difficulties that seem to prevent criminals from really reforming.

Ann Davis, a talented and beautiful young actress of engaging personality, appears as the harassed and beset young woman, while the rest of the excellent cast organized by Mr. Woods includes Howard Hall, Joseph Rawley, Suzanne Wills, Dorothy Dunn, E. M. Dresser, Corlis Giles, Rose Maurice, Horace Cooper, Charles Gerrard, George Cameron and others. The scenic equipment, which is unusually elaborate for a dramatic production, is identical with that employed in New York and Chicago, in both of which cities "Within the Law" was credited by the critics with registering the "sensational triumph of the year."

Mail orders will be received now and filled in the order of their receipt.

WORKS FOR PRESIDENT.

(Special to the Daily Republican.)
New York, Sept. 23.—The popularity of Miss Mary C. Francis as a society woman in New York, as well as her home town of Cincinnati, is proving of great assistance to her in reaching the women of the country in the interests of President Taft.
Miss Francis has offered her services to the women's headquarters here and is devoting her energies to convincing women that they should lend their influence to the Republican party, and in States where they have the ballot they should vote the Republican ticket.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS.

Governor Wilson is the centre of the big noise at Scranton, Pa., tonight.

Governor Hiram W. Johnson, Vice-Presidential candidate of the Progressives opens his Ohio campaign today, with a three-day special-train tour of the State.

President Taft will talk to the delegates who are attending the National Association of Commerce Executives meeting in Boston, to-night.

The Republicans in New York State hold their convention at Saratoga on Wednesday of this week. It is said that President N. M. Butler of Columbia University will be given the nomination. Friends of former Speaker of the State Assembly Wadsworth, however, claim that he will fight for the nomination.

Republicans of Michigan will also hold their State convention this week at Detroit. Republicans of New Jersey are making a fight in the statewide primary elections to nominate former Governor Briggs for United States Senator.

Governor Wilson has two important fights on his hands this week—his struggle to prevent the re-election of State Senator Smith in the primaries, and his fight against the re-nomination of Governor Dix of New York by the Democrats. Although the New York State Democratic convention does not meet until October 1, Leader Charles F. Murphy of Tammany Hall will probably decide upon the nominee this week.

The New York Press has been purchased from Henry L. Einstein by Frank Munsey, and in future the policy of the paper will be Progressive, supporting both the National and State tickets.

The purchase is the result of an attempt on the part of members of the Progressive party to get control of a morning newspaper in New York.
It had an evening paper—The Mail—
but to reach morning readers too, Mr.
Munsey has bought the Press, which claims a circulation of more than 100,000.

Tom Lewis, of Bridgeport, Belmont County, Ohio, has been chosen as the Republican nominee for Secretary of State, to fill the vacancy on the ticket caused by the resignation of John L. Sullivan, who accepted the nomination on the Progressive ticket.

Lewis formerly was President of the United Mine Workers of America.

FIRST ANNUAL SALE OF DUROC JERSEYS

65 Head of Pure Bred Duroc Jersey Swine 65
The best lot of stock to be found in Indiana, at Falmouth, Indiana

Thursday, October 3, 1912

BEGINNING AT 12 O'CLOCK SHARP

These pigs are sired by the following boars: C. E. Orion, sired by the Great Orion Chief. The old hog lies buried on the Matern farm in Illinois, having died July 19th. No hog did more for the Durocs than did Orion Chief. His daughters have been among the best sellers and as a class among the top brood sows of the breed, while he has also put many sons at the head of herds.

Perry's Top Col. was sired by Col. S.; Col. S. by King of Cols. Perry's Top Col. is a great hog. He is two years old and weighs 700 pounds.

Falmouth Pilot was sired by Kelley's Pilot wonder. The dams of offering are nearly all sired by high priced, winning boars.

BROTHER BREEDERS come out and spend the day with me, see these great sires, hear the Colonels talk, and eat a good dinner. Dinner will be served [Free promptly at 11 o'clock by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Fair view Christian Church.

TERMS MADE KNOWN ON DAY OF SALE

Parties coming from a distance will be entertained at the Windsor Hotel, Rushville, by E. K. Morris at my expense by registering and telling the clerk they will attend the sale of B. M. Perry.

Pennsylvania train will leave Rushville for Falmouth at 10:30 a. m. Those failing to come night before sale will be met at Glenwood I. & C. Traction Statement Shows Economic Claims Made by Former President Are Not Borne Out by Facts.

INCREASE OF FORTY PER CENT

(Special to the Daily Republican)
New York, Sept. 23.—The Republican National Committee has prepared a statement showing that the economic claims made by President Roosevelt are not borne out by facts. It is stated that the aggregate public expenditure increased steadily for several years under Mr. Roosevelt. During the last year of his administration the total of the current operating expenses had attained the unprecedented figure of $662,324,444, and during that year there was a deficit of $58,000,000. Thus, by ignoring opportunities for effecting economies and introducing efficiency, President Roosevelt had permitted a surplus of $90,000,000 in 1902 to become a deficit of $58,000,000 in 1909, and during that period of seven years the ordinary expenses of government had increased $181,000,000, or 40 per cent.

Hence the increase in the cost of conducting the ordinary governmental operations during the Roosevelt regime was almost 6 per cent annually; it was 4 per cent during the preceding period of ten years, and approximately 3 per cent a year during the decade of 1882-92.

"LAYING UP" FOR BOSTON

President's Next Big Address Will be Delivered This Week.

(Special to the Daily Republican)
Beverly, Mass., Sept. 23.—The next big address to be made by President Taft will be delivered in Boston this week at the dinner of the International Chamber of Commerce. No other President has shown greater interest than Mr. Taft in commercial questions. He has given all the encouragement in his power to make the forthcoming conference a success and urges congress to appropriate $50,000 with which the federal government might cooperate with local bodies to show the delegates some of the industrial wonders of the United States, but the Democratic house, with characteristic breadth of vision, refused to make the appropriation.

NO SOUTHERN VOTES FOR T. R.

Greensboro, N. C., Sept. 23.—Robert S. Sloan, of this city, a nephew of former Governor Robert S. Glenn, of North Carolina, who knows the political situation in this State perhaps better than any other man, declares that Taft will win more votes in the South than Roosevelt. He declares that Roosevelt will not obtain enough of the Southern vote to notice.

YOUNG MEN WORK FOR TAFT.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 23.—The young men of Massachusetts are trying to form the biggest organization of young men working for the re-election of President Taft in the country. Taft clubs have been formed in Peabody, Danvers, Haverhill and Marblehead, while older organizations in Salem and other cities report that every day brings recruits to the Republicans from Democratic and Progressive ranks.

REBELS MAKE ATTACK UPON GUARDED TRAIN

Brisk Battle Near Border Below Naco, Ariz.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 23.—Not far south of Naco, Ariz., on the Southern Pacific road between Naco and Cananea, 350 Mexican rebels and 250 federalists are fighting in Sonora. A train, the first into Cananea bearing passengers since the destruction of the track two weeks ago, was attacked by rebels when it reached a bridge at Kilometer 22. Sixty federalists aboard the train as guards, with a machine gun, dismounted and answered the rebel attack. The rebels had dismounted, leaving their horses behind the hills. The train returned to Naco for reinforcements, and the rebels also sent for reinforcements. When the train returned with its additional federalists the rebels had also been augmented and the fight began in earnest. General Pascual Orozco and his rebel cavalry, who made their escape into Coahuila following their defeat a week ago at Ojinaga, are making their way toward Porfiro Diaz, which is opposite Eagle Pass, according to a telegram received here.

CLAPTRAP BY UNDERWOOD

Tariff Duties Not Paid by Users of American Goods.

HIS ADDRESS SHOULD BE READ

Workers Will Recognize His Distortion of Figures and Facts and Will Not Be Beguiled by It—Shows How Hard Pushed the Democrats Are For an Argument.

It is to be hoped that every American worker in the various industries protected by the tariff will read the address of Mr. Underwood, Democratic leader in the house of representatives, in which he sets forth as taxation the tariff duties on articles in ordinary use. There is nothing novel in the Underwood distortion of tariff figures and facts. It is as threadbare as free trade, as threadbare as the American workman would soon be if he should allow himself to be beguiled by Underwood and other votaries of the late Confederate constitution into the surrender of Republican protection.

It is true, as Underwood says, that the tariff taxes he describes are imposed on articles such as he describes—woolen clothing, shoes, the tin pail, window pane, carpet, etc., but he is wholly and deliberately wrong and misleading when he says that the duties in question are imposed on or added to the cost of these articles, as used in the ordinary American family.

The tariff tax is imposed on goods manufactured abroad and imported for sale in competition with goods made in America by American workers earning American wages.

The man or woman who is satisfied with the product of American labor—and nine-tenths of the American people are so satisfied—has no tariff tax to pay, and this is shown by the fact that the American article, with its manufacture fostered by protection, is often cheaper in price than the imported would be without paying tariff duties.

The tariff duties prevent excessive imports, which would flood the markets, as imported goods flooded the market under the tariff reductions made by the Democratic Wilson bill of 1894, reducing not only the tariff, but reducing also the demand for American goods and for American labor to make American goods.

Mr. Underwood's statement is cheap claptrap. We had supposed that style of talk too muddy and cobwebbed for further exercise, and the fact that it is again dragged out of the discard proves how hard pushed the free trade Democracy is for something to bolster its waning cause.

FAIRNESS TOWARD NEGROES

Taft's Attorney General Stands for the "Square Deal."

Attorney General Wickersham reflects the broad American spirit of himself and his chief, President Taft, in his splendid fight against the dropping from membership in the American Bar association of his able colored assistant, William H. Lewis. It is needless to say that every supporter of Woodrow Wilson and every sympathizer with Theodore Roosevelt in his refusal to recognize the citizenship of the southern negro, is opposed to Mr. Wickersham in his battle for equal rights and fair treatment for colored Americans.

The action of the executive committee of the Bar association in revoking the election of three colored members, gentlemen of spotless professional standing and excellent personal character, by their local committees, was outrageously, cruelly unjust and ought to be repudiated by every reputable lawyer in the United States. It was a concession to that southern Democratic prejudice which seeks to crush the spirit of manly aspiration in the negro's breast and to tolerate him only as a laborer on the plantations and for the households where his ancestors were slaves. It amounts to an attempt to nullify the constitution of the United States, as amended after the rebellion, by men whose sacred obligation had welcome duty it should be to support that instrument in their every act as lawyers and as citizens.

In their resolute backing of Assistant Attorney General Lewis against the assaults of rank Bourbonism and racial prejudice, President Taft and his attorney general have the god-speed of every American who believes in the principles for which Lincoln died, and who is determined that the sacrifices which the nation offered up on the altar of freedom and equal rights for all shall not have been made in vain.

The Wilson Fall Frost.

The free trade Evening Post publishes a lot of figures to show what would happen if all the states voted the same as Vermont in November.

A two-and-three-makes-five school-boy could tell the free trade Evening Post that if all the states should vote in November the same way Vermont has voted Taft would have the whole electoral college.

It came early, but it came with a bite to it—the Wilson fall frost. Bryan and Parker were both elected in August and buried under a snowstorm of ballots in November, and Wilson is hurrying to the same snow pile.

WILSON WOULD REPEAL ALL PROTECTIVE TARIFF LAWS.

The following is taken from an address delivered by Professor Woodrow Wilson before the tariff board in 1882, showing his view then on the question of the tariff and the distinct announcement of his position as a free trader, opposed to all tariffs except merely for the purpose of raising revenue:

"But the danger of imposing protective duties is that when the policy is once embarked upon it cannot be easily receded from. Protection is nothing more than a bounty, and when we offer bounties to manufacturers they will enter into industries and build up interests and when at a later day we seek to overthrow this protective tariff we must hurt somebody and of course there is objection. They will say, 'Thousands of men will be thrown out of employment and hundreds of people will lose their capital.' This seems very plausible; but I maintain that manufacturers are made better manufacturers whenever they are thrown upon their own resources and left to the natural competition of trade."

"Protection also hinders commerce immensely. The English people do not send as many goods to this country as they would if the duties were not so much and in that way there is a restriction of commerce and we are building up manufacturing help at the expense of commerce. We are holding ourselves aloof from foreign countries in effect and saying, 'We are sufficient to ourselves; we wish to trade, not with England, but with each other.' I maintain that it is not only a pernicious system, but a corrupt system."

"By Commissioner Garland: 'Q. Are you advocating the repeal of all tariff laws?'

"A. Of all protective tariff laws; of establishing a tariff for revenue merely. It seems to me very absurd to maintain that we shall have free trade between different portions of this country and at the same time shut ourselves out from free communication with other producing countries of the world. If it is necessary to impose restrictive duties on goods brought from abroad it would seem to me as a matter of logic, necessary to impose similar restrictions on goods taken from one state of this Union to another. That follows as a necessary consequence: there is no escape from it."

HAS CHANGED AS CANDIDATE

Woodrow Wilson's Speeches Now Those of Office Seeker.

Scattered among the platitudes of Dr. Wilson's speech of acceptance are some truths. None is more significant than this:

"We stand in the presence of an awakened nation, impatient of partisan make believe."

Following which he makes believe that he is telling the voters of the country his position on the campaign issues. No one has yet been able to determine from a reading of the speech precisely what that position is. Some slight enlightenment comes from time to time in his later utterances, like, for example, the declaration the other day that Tammany is to be safe from his assaults; but none of it is satisfying.

Dr. Wilson, in the pre-convention days, was represented to the country as a scholarly gentleman, too lofty of mind to practice the wiles of the professional politician, too earnest in the cause of good government to be caught but frank and fearless in his expression, too unselfish to put private ambition above the public weal, too idealistic in character to truckle to the forces of evil in the nation.

But how singularly he has masked all of these qualities since William Jennings Bryan forced his nomination at Baltimore.

There is no difference, save in the purity of the English, between his speeches and the speeches of the professional office seeker of the worst period in American politics. He steps pussy footed over all the large questions of the day. He exhibits a suspiciously broad tolerance for all elements in the body politic, even the elements which, to nominate him, Bryan found it expedient to denounce by name in the convention. There is none of the rugged frankness of utterance that characterized his writings in the days before he was inoculated with the virus of political ambition. He is proving over apt as an advanced student of practical politics.

It is not a pleasant nor a heartening exhibition he makes of himself. The right minded citizen can feel nothing but sadness in contemplating a man of education and culture so intent upon partisan and personal victory that he sacrifices those ideals of truth and honesty for which he has always stood to fawn upon and honeyfuge the voters.

Dr. Wilson as a candidate is not in character with the Dr. Wilson that was pictured to us prior to the Baltimore convention. This "awakened nation, impatient of partisan make believe," detects the difference.

PROMISE CLASH OVER PLATFORM

Barnes Will Have Plenty of Opposition at Saratoga.

THE "LIVING ISSUES" ISSUE

A Strong Contingent of the Delegates to the Coming New York State Republican Convention Will Give State Chairman a Wrestle on His Program of Standing by the Rochester Platform Adopted Last Spring.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 23.—In the preliminaries leading up to the Republican state convention, which assembles here on Wednesday, there is to be plenty of gunpowder and ruction. Indeed, the clashes came at once on the arrival of President Koenig and Herbert Parsons of the New York county delegation and ex-Governor Horace White of Syracuse. Dozens more of Republican delegates to the convention arrived Sunday, and with them came William Barnes, chairman of the Republican state committee. With the arrival of Mr. Barnes and after talks he had with Mr. Parsons and Mr. Koenig, it became known that there is to be trouble enough to satisfy the most belligerent delegate over the platform. In this clash William Berri of Brooklyn and other Kings county Republicans have joined. Mr. Berri believes that the platform to be adopted by this convention shall incorporate what he describes as "living issues of this very live age."

Chairman Barnes does not favor the introduction of the direct nominations plank in the platform. In fact, he is bitterly opposed to that plank. Mr. Barnes believes in standing by the constitution of the United States, indorsing the platform adopted at Rochester last spring, but does not favor to any material extent the introduction of new and live state issues in the platform. And yet he is not opposed to changes in the Levy election law, especially those parts which have been riddled by the courts.

Chairman Barnes issued a statement defining his position. At the outset he makes a comparison between the Progressives' convention at Syracuse and the coming Republican convention. He calls the former a "gathering unhampered by any law," while delegates to the Republican convention have been chosen in accordance with law, and says: "Regarding the candidate for governor, I have no idea whom this convention will nominate for that office. The assumption that I personally have either the power or the inclination to influence the majority of the delegates in behalf of any particular candidate is entirely unwarranted."

A BUSY DAY

The President Is Finding His Vacation Time Broken in On.

Washington, Sept. 23.—President Taft this morning attended the opening session of the fifteenth international congress on hygiene and demography. At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon he received the delegates to the national conference of Catholic charities, and later gave a reception to the visiting scientists. This evening he will attend a meeting of the national Emancipation Commemoration society. He will go to New York tomorrow for a political conference with Chairman Hilles of the Republican national committee, and on Wednesday will attend the loyal war governors' conference at Altoona, Pa. He will return to Beverly on Thursday.

Roosevelt and Taft.
In private life if you want to get certain work done, you never pick anyone unless you are pretty certain what he will do after you give him the job.
The same principle holds in public life. The voter naturally wants to find some one in harmony with his ideas to carry out his purpose. How can he have any certainty as to what Theodore Roosevelt's purposes and principles will be a year from today? With freakish impulsiveness Mr. Roosevelt shifts from one position to another. Only a short time ago he favored reciprocity with Canada. He even went beyond Mr. Taft's position as he favored free trade between the two countries.

Then when he found out that President Taft's reciprocity was proving unpopular among the farmers, he suddenly shifted his position, and came out directly against reciprocity. How can anyone have any idea what he will do if elected president, provided that there should sometime appear to be some votes to be had by changing his position?

Previous to Mr. Roosevelt's going to Africa, Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Taft were as intimately associated publicly and privately as any two men in this country. Mr. Roosevelt picked Mr. Taft for the presidency, as in his opinion by far the best man available. According to Mr. Roosevelt's present theory of Mr. Taft, his judgment at that time was absolutely wrong, and the man whom he picked has proved a disgraceful failure.

If so, if Roosevelt thus proved ridiculously unable to select a president, how can he be trusted to select a cabinet, to make appointments, or to perform any of the president's multifarious acts calling for a keen judgment of human nature?

Recently wishing to corral the million votes of women in the western States Mr. Roosevelt has come out for woman suffrage. Do you care for a man who will come out for anything simply because it has a block of votes behind it?

Mr. Roosevelt stated with the utmost impressiveness that he would not be a candidate for another term. If later he had admitted that he had changed his mind, the people might have considered him unreliable, but no one could have questioned his honesty in the matter.

How many people believe that when he said a third term, he meant a "third consecutive term?"

How sharply in contrast President Taft, sincere, candid, firm, is with this shift politician who now seeks the third term denied to every one of his predecessors!

There are certain tariff duties that ought to be lower than they are—there is no question about that, and it would be so tomorrow even if the duty were exactly what it ought to be today on every one of the thousands of items in the schedules. Conditions are always changing more or less, and even if a perfect schedule were possible at any one time, twenty-four hours would bring the necessity for more or less increase or decrease. The greatest of all disappointments,

Sam Sanderson Says:

That there is no chance for backsliders at this meeting because the seats all have backs on them.

however, is to come to those who imagine that they are likely to profit from a reduction in prices by a reduction of the tariff. It is true that a reduction in the duties may be followed by a reduction in price, but with it is likely to come other changes that mean a net loss rather than gain to the average man. In 1893, for instance, there was a great reduction in prices and the one thing more than all else that animated the Democratic party was the demand for a currency system that would increase prices. But the average man did not profit from this condition. On the contrary, he suffered and suffered seriously. The merchant suffered, the wage earner suffered. There was less business and there was less work. Wages were lower and in millions of instances there were no wages. Of course prices may be reduced in this way, but what same man wants such a change?

Volunteering in School.

A method of conducting school recitations that has gained a good deal of vogue among teachers, is the plan of calling for volunteers to answer questions. At this beginning of the school year, it might be well to ask how far this plan is in use in our schools and if it works well.

Teacher, wishing to know what 8 times 14 is, or where the Chagres river is to be found, asks the whole class. Half a dozen alert little faces send up wiggling arms. She calls on one and gets her answer.

What has happened? The forward, active, quick minded children get a practice on speedy response that they did not need. They think too quickly now.

Meanwhile the slower and more bashful children, who may really have more substantial mental powers could not collect their thoughts quick enough to answer.

No doubt it is a method of instruction that has its strong points. But also it tempts the indolent teacher to think a class knows a lesson when in fact only a part of them know it.

The good old time way of calling on all the members in turn was one of those faithful methods that gave the old time school its thoroughness in spite of many faults.

The exports of manufactured goods from our country have passed the billion dollar mark, in spite of the claim that only under free trade could our manufacturers develop an export business.

And rudolph leeds got his money from the tin plate industry too.

Judge Wiley of Indianapolis has resigned as Bull Moose candidate for congress from the Seventh district. The Indianapolis Star kindly ran an advance notice yesterday as to make the jar of the official resignation easier this morning. Rush of law practice, yo' know. Just can't do it all. Or was it gettin' too hot for former inhabitants of the appellate bench who fed out of the Republican crib for years.

Verily, being a Bull Moose must be anything but bulky.

We are indebted to the Indianapolis Star for the announcement that Earl Livingood, former Democratic clerk of Montgomery county, is a Bull Moose. But why should he be?

We will have to rise to a point of order for the fellow who has caused it to be circulated about town that

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

(Ft. Wayne News.)

William Dudley Foulke, one of our most famous little letter writers, was very desirous of becoming the Bull Moose congressional candidate for the Richmond district. At the convention, however, the Moosers got together, concluded Foulke simply wouldn't do, and nominated another man in his place. Naturally Mr. Foulke was somewhat perturbed to realize that after all his clatter even an empty honor was begrudged him, and being a mighty poor loser, he proceeded to shoot his successful competitor full of holes, utilizing his Richmond newspaper as his gun. Although this competitor had allied himself with the new party of purity, progress and perfection solely and wholly for the purpose of advancing the cause of humanity, it appears that back in the time when he was a Republican he had not been at all times altogether impeccable. What William Dudley Foulke did to him was enough to make the angels weep. The attack had the desired effect, too, and now the Sixth district bull moosers have no congressional candidate.

It is to be sincerely hoped, however, that they will not long be without one, and that Mr. Foulke will be tendered the honor he has so assiduously sought with the implements of a Korean headhunter. Surely, no better chance could be accorded the people of his home town and district to prove to him what they really think of him.

tion of the first convention. Tom Jessop of Wayne county said it was wholly unnecessary and moved to accept the resignation, which was considered enough to get Greenstreet out of the way.

Gurliet Gensen of Shelbyville was nominated by Schultze, the Franklin county chairman. Several seconding speeches followed. They were made by personal friends of Gensen. J. Osear Hall, Shelby county chairman and defeated Republican candidate for prosecutor, was one of the speech makers.

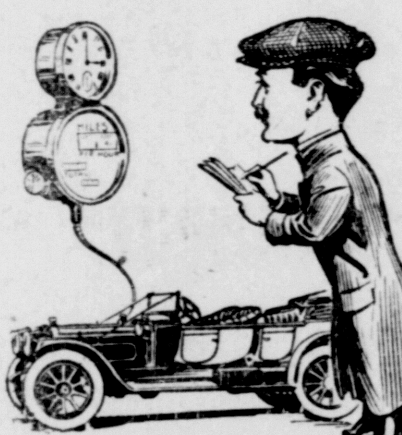

W. R. Wilson, the Henry county chairman, said he represented the Bull Moosers in his county, which consisted mostly of the three delegates with him, and that they were all satisfied with the way the convention turned out.

The Henry county Moosers are all torn up over the county ticket question. When they decided to put out a county ticket, five committeemen resigned. They, together with other Moosers opposing the county ticket, have formed an independent Progressive party. The county convention of the original party is to be held tomorrow. This morning snap township conventions to name delegates to the county convention, about which the people knew nothing, were held.

In his speech of acceptance Gensen declared he had no intimation he was to be nominated, and a few moments later declared he had assurances of support from every county excepting Hancock, and he saw a fellow from there who said: "They're red hot over here."

Gensen assumed that the Bull Moose platform will save all the boys and girls from whatever trickery the old parties had ever perpetrated against them. He held up the platform as a panacea for all ills. He asserted the platform would rectify the trouble that always causes business depression in campaign years.

The Shelbyville News is authority for the statement that Gensen is an independent in politics and that he voted for William J. Bryan every time he bobbed up.

WATSON TALKS TO CAPACITY HOUSE

Former Congressman Gives Republican Speech at Noblesville After Big Automobile Parade.

BULL MOOSE PARTY BOSSES

The Republicans of Hamilton county opened their campaign in Noblesville Friday night with an address at the opera house by James E. Watson. The house, which has a seating capacity of 1200, was filled to overflowing. C. H. Tomlinson, county chairman, presided. There was an automobile parade before the speaking, in which one hundred machines participated.

Mr. Watson first discussed the Republican State platform. He then took up the tariff question and said the Republican party had showed its wisdom in the enactment of the Aldrich law. He said he defied any man to point out a single factory that was closed or a single man who had been thrown out of employment or any markets that had been crippled as the result of the operation of the law.

On the subject of bossism Mr. Watson said the biggest bosses were leading the Bull Moose party. Roosevelt and Beveridge are both bosses, Mr. Watson said.

AMUSEMENTS

The Princess will show for the first picture tonight a Lubin drama, "Together." Orma Hawley is featured in this picture. The other is a Pathe comedy, "A Question of Size." Tomorrow night a feature Biograph, "Heaven Avenges" will be shown.

A production of Wagner's "Parsifal" will be seen at English's the first three days of the week, the engagement including a matinee performance. It is the dramatic version that will be presented and it is, of course, unnecessary to say that the situations are effective and the settings beautiful. Especially notable is the scene between the elements of good and evil, the conflict between light and darkness. The curtain, it is especially announced, will rise promptly at 8 o'clock and at 2 o'clock.

Cottage Prayer Meetings

Cottage prayer meetings open tomorrow morning at 9:30. Each hostess is requested to hang out a white flag. The list of houses and leaders follows:

Mrs. Roy Wagoner, Eleventh and Morgan. James Locke, leader.
 Mrs. A. C. Brown, 324 N. Morgan. Miss Parshall, leader.
 Mrs. James Watson, 801 N. Main. J. B. Meacham, leader.

 S. H. Trabue, 319 N. Perkins. Rev. C. M. Yocum, leader.
 Virgil Bodine, 22 W. Second. Rev. F. B. Stearns, leader.
 Mrs. John Singer, 201 S. Pearl. Mrs. Mary Holmes, leader.

Ed Smith's telephone number has been changed from 1160 to 3259.

When You Buy a Base Burner You Make or Lose Money

The Imperial Universal

is larger in the body, flues and general construction throughout than any other Base Burner in the market. It has more radiating surface and hot air circulating capacity than others. Its fire pot is extra heavy and deep, insuring a clean fire. Its fire pot and grates are easily removed without the use of any tools whatever. Its nicked parts can be quickly taken off without loosening a single bolt.

Its use insures warm floors and uniform temperature throughout the rooms, no matter how cold the weather outside. Come in and examine this stove thoroughly before making your selection, $30 to $60 prices

MORE TREES IS NOW THE PLEA

State Forester Calls On the People to Awaken.

WAYSIDE SHADE DEMANDED

Among Numerous Important Points to Be Emphasized in Forester Deam's Forthcoming Report Is One Calling Attention to the Beauty and Utility of Shaded Highways and Value of Shade For Livestock.

Indianapolis, Sept. 23.—In an effort to induce and preserve field and highway tree cultivation throughout the state, Charles C. Deam, state forester, will devote much space in his forthcoming report to an appeal for such cultivation. He will endeavor, too, through publicity to call attention to country dwellers of the necessity and desirability of trees along the highways and in fields.

According to Mr. Deam the people of Indiana have become lax in their attention to trees along country roads. It has become a practice, he says, for farmers to disregard the small growths that spring up along the roadside as the result of seeds being blown by the wind, and such trees, if cultivated, would serve to beautify the countryside.

Particular attention also will be called to the necessity for planting and caring for trees in open fields. This cultivation is being urged to furnish a place of comfort for horses, cattle, sheep and other animals in the fields, furnishing places for shade and shelter.

Recently the state forester made a trip over the state, searching for data on tree cultivation for his report. He took a camera and made photographs of stretches of highways and in fields where trees are allowed to stand, which show the animals take advantage of the shade afforded.

"Many farmers protest that trees in the fields prevent the sun from reaching beneath the branches and thus prevent growth," said Mr. Deam. "This can be prevented by pruning the trees high enough to permit the sun's rays reaching beneath the branches."

DOUBLE TRAGEDY

Spurned, Harry Hector Kills Lucille May and Himself.

Vincennes, Ind., Sept. 23.—Miss Lucille May, a beautiful seventeen-year-old singer with the Knickerbocker Stock company, which closed a week's engagement here Saturday, was shot and instantly killed shortly after midnight Sunday morning by Thomas Harry Davies of Chicago, who, as Harry Hector, posed as a catch-as-catch-can wrestler and ex-middle-weight champion of England. Davies came to Vincennes Saturday morning from Chicago and dogged Miss May's footsteps, once entering a streetcar and there attempting to kill her. Later at the theater she became tangled in her lines when Davies appeared in the audience and attempted to get on the stage. Davies was forcibly ejected.

Just as Miss May and her mother sat down to a midnight lunch at the Savoy restaurant, Davies entered and fired four bullets into the girl's head and body. A cartridge jammed in the barrel, preventing Davies from killing himself as he turned the gun to his head. Davies was arrested within a block of the shooting, and just before daylight succeeded in committing suicide in jail by hanging with a towel rope.

A letter from Miss May, written Sept. 1 and found in Davies' pocket, disclosed that she had jilted him because she had discovered he had a wife and daughter in Pennsylvania.

More Than a Dream.

Connersville, Ind., Sept. 23.—Dreaming that he was falling out of a hay-mow, John Jacoby, bruised and bleeding, awoke at the foot of a ladder in a livery barn with a realization that his dream had come true. The man slept in the loft. He arose in his sleep and walked to the hole leading to the lower part of the building and fell through it. Jacoby's collar bone was broken.

He Found the Leak.

Boonville, Ind., Sept. 23.—William Matthews, aged fifty-five, manager of the Boonville canning factory, died from injuries received in the explosion of a gasoline tank. Matthews discovered a leak in the gasoline tank and started to repair it. He carried a lantern, which ignited the gasoline. Matthews was found fifteen feet away with his clothes and flesh burned off.

Farmer Hangs Himself.

Diaz Is Non-Committal.

Blairitz, Sept. 23.—Your correspondent asked General Porfirio Diaz, who is stopping here, what he thought of the recent demonstration at Mexico City in favor of his return, and whether he intended to go back to that country. General Diaz thanked the correspondent for offering to cable his views, but added: "I am unable to break my rule of not speaking on politics."

REACHED GRANADA WITHOUT A BATTLE

Last Rebel Stronghold In Nicaragua Opened.

Washington, Sept. 23.—At the state department official confirmation of the reports that the American forces had reached Granada, the last rebel stronghold in Nicaragua, has been received. Only a brief message was received, stating that Major Butler and his command of marines and blue-jackets had arrived there. The food supplies given by the American Red Cross also reached Granada safely, and Major Butler began at once to distribute them to the inhabitants of the famine-stricken city.

The taking of Granada and Mazaya by the Americans completely opens the single railroad in Nicaragua, that extending from Corinto, to the Pacific. The chief purpose of the American forces in Nicaragua now becomes that of restoring as rapidly as possible normal conditions. It is stated that the two months of disorder, together with the interruption of railroad and telegraphic communication, has stagnated all business.

POISON IN COFFEE

Lowell Police Say Girl Confessed Trying to Murder Relatives.

Lowell, Mass., Sept. 23.—Miss Gladys O. Newell, sixteen years of age, is under arrest charged with attempting to murder her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Jordan, of this city. Under questioning, the police say, she admitted that she had put rat poison into the coffee she served her relatives on breakfast on Thursday morning. About a year ago she put poison in the tea, she confessed, so the police declare.

As reasons she told the officers that her aunt had been too severe with her and that a young man friend in New York had written her that if she put them out of the way there would be nothing to prevent her joining him and being happy.

Found With Throat Cut.

San Diego, Cal., Sept. 23.—Captain Sasaki, commander of the Imperial Japanese trading ship Taisei Maru, is in a local sanitarium suffering from knife wounds in the throat. He was found unconscious in his cabin. The doctor who took a number of stitches in the wound said he did not know whether the captain had been attacked or attempted suicide.

AIMS AT HIGHER COST OF LIVING

Labor Commissioner Makes Statistical Report.

In the Period Covered by This Official Inquiry It Is Shown That While All of the Fifteen Articles Used as a Basis of Comparison Had Advanced in Cost, Ten Had Increased as Much as Fifty Per Cent.

Washington, Sept. 23.—There has just been completed an investigation into the high cost of living for a period of ten years past conducted by the commissioner of labor, which was extended into thirty-two states and covered fifteen of the principal food products and coal.

The investigation was made in industrial centers, and the commissioner believes covers two-thirds of the articles that enter into working men's necessities.

The report shows that fourteen of the fifteen food articles covered by the investigation were quoted at higher prices on June 15, 1912, than they were a year before, while ten of the articles had advanced in the last ten years more than 50 per cent over the average retail prices for the period 1890-1899.

During the last decade prices of potatoes changed most and sugar the least. Their advances were 11.9 and 8.5 per cent respectively. During the last year bacon, which decreased just one-tenth of 1 per cent, was the only one of the fifteen principal articles of food that showed a decline in price, while nine of the fifteen advanced more than 10 per cent, varying from 2.4 per cent for milk to 18.6 for round steak.

Of the fifteen, only eggs, butter, milk and sugar were lower, but the price of three of these four is normally lower during summers than during winters.

DEATH CLAIMED HIM

Parachute Failed to Open When Man Leaped From Column of Victory.

Berlin, Sept. 23.—A man named Buettner jumped from the top of the famous Column of Victory in the Tiergarten and was instantly killed. The column is 245 feet high.

Buettner had agreed with a bioscope concern to make the jump with a parachute from the summit of the column. The operators of the moving picture machine were all ready and a big crowd was watching when Buettner ascended the staircase. He lost no time in making the jump from the top. The parachute failed to act, and he came down like a stone and was dead when the onlookers reached the spot.

'SEEKING TROUBLE

Miss Leigh Still Is in a Belligerent Frame of Mind.

Dublin, Sept. 23.—Miss Mary Leigh, who was released from Mount Joy prison because she was too ill to be kept there any longer, according to noted physicians, is not too sick to plan for a resumption of violence. She sent a letter to a suffrage meeting here in which she announced that if her fellow prisoner in the jail, Mrs. Gladys Evans, was not released in a few days she (Miss Leigh), would lead an assault on Mount Joy prison, when "the issue would only be decided by victory or death."

Fired at Skulking Men.

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 23.—A company of the state militia, patrolling the Cabin creek strike district, fired several rounds at a party of skulking men who had attempted to set fire to the $20,000 tipple of the Carbon Coal company at South Carbon. One man was probably fatally wounded and several others are believed to have been struck by bullets. Three tipples in this district have been burned.

The President Declines.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 23.—President Taft received an invitation from Thomas Bertwistle, secretary of the campaign committee of the Socialist party, to enter a joint debate on the issues of the campaign with the presidential candidate of the Socialist party, Eugene V. Debs. The president wired a reply that he is not taking an active part in the present campaign and therefore would decline to enter the debate.

Both Sides Want Him.

Washington, Sept. 23.—Paul Peck, jr., seven months old, son of the aviator killed at Chicago last week, is the subject of legal warfare between his grandparents for his custody. The child was orphaned by Peck's death. Paternal and maternal grandparents are suing for his possession.

Escaped Into Indiana.

Carmi, Ill., Sept. 23.—Chase Bray, a farmer, living five miles east of here, drove to the home of John Anselment, a neighboring farmer, called Anselment to the door and shot him to death. Bray escaped and the officers are searching for him. It is believed he escaped into Indiana.

DYNAMITERS TRIAL SET FOR NEXT WEEK

Both the Government and the Defense Ready.

Indianapolis, Sept. 23.—Scheduled to begin in federal court Oct. 1, a week from next Tuesday, is the trial of the dynamite cases, in which fifty-one defendants will appear here, and which, it is predicted, will be one of the most extraordinary criminal cases in American history. Fifty-four persons are named in the indictments, which allege a general conspiracy to ship explosives in violation of the interstate commerce laws, but of this number only fifty-one will be here.

Two of the fifty-four defendants, John J. McNamara and his brother, James B. McNamara, are serving sentences in the California state prison, and a third, John J. McCray, formerly a member of the executive board of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, never has been arrested. It is believed from investigations made by government agents that McCray is dead. He once lived in Wheeling, W. Va.

So far as is known now, both the government and the defense is ready to proceed at once with the trials. Judge Albert B. Anderson will preside. It is understood that the idea of asking for a change of venue to another judge has been abandoned by the defense. Subpoenas for about 120 witnesses have been issued by the government.

Complaisant New Hampshire Husband Indorses "Affinity" Program.

Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 23.—The shifting problem of the human triangle probably never assumed so strange a phase as in the extraordinary heart affairs of Mrs. Mollie Pearson, wife of John N. Pearson, a merchant here, and Fred L. Trask, who have left Portsmouth to begin their lives together anew with the consent of the deserted husband. Trask leaves a wife to whom he was married eleven years ago, while the Pearsons have been married about twelve years.

When it became apparent that Trask and Mrs. Pearson were infatuated, according to Mr. Pearson, the husband questioned them and came to the decision that the quicker they were allowed to go away together the sooner they would tire of each other. A nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pearson accompanied the couple.

Crackman Caught in the Act.

Indianapolis, Sept. 23.—George Riden, twenty-four years old, of Ben Davis, Ind., a safeblower, was captured early Sunday morning by Patrolman Arthur Fields, who surprised Riden while he was at work on a safe in a saloon operated by Jacob Slutzky, River and Oliver avenues. Fields walked in on Riden before the "egg-man" had an opportunity to turn from the safe and, with drawn revolver, commanded him to surrender. Riden was locked up.

Religious Contention Settled.

Washington, Sept. 23.—President Taft has decided that the order of Robert G. Valentine, who recently resigned as United States commissioner of Indian affairs, prohibiting the use of religious garb or insignia in the Indian schools and missions, shall not be revived. The order, which was issued last January, was promptly revoked by the secretary of the interior under direction of President Taft.

Last Day For Chester Jordan.

Boston, Sept. 23.—Chester S. Jordan, the young Somerville man who murdered his wife on Sept. 1, 1908, in their flat in Boston and crowded the dismembered body into a trunk, will be put to death at the state prison early tomorrow morning.

LEAGUE BALL FOR RUSHVILLE?

Story From Cincinnati States That K. I. O. Organization May Take in Locals and Newcastle.

LISTENS GOOD TO FANS HERE

Manager Maibaugh Favors Proposition But Would Rather Get Berth in State League.

Rushville may see its base ball team playing league ball next year. A story coming from Cincinnati states that the K. I. O. League expects to enlarge next year and that Rushville and Newcastle may be added to the league.

It is not known whether Newcastle would give up its berth in the Indiana State, but Manager Maibaugh of the local team looks favorably on the proposition. It is understood that the State league contemplates a change in its circuit next season and while the K. I. O. league is an older league the local fans would rather see Rushville given a berth in the Indiana League. Of course this early in the game the league business is all talk but it is believed Rushville could hold its own if given a chance at either organization.

The following from Sunday's Cincinnati Enquirer tells of the K. I. O. League proposed expansion:

The K. I. O. League may branch out next season into a larger family. There is every likelihood that instead of six teams the league will have eight clubs on the circuit by the time play is called in 1913. Although the past season was indeed a rough one, and it is quite early yet, the managers are already working on the scheme of enlarging the membership and hope to have everything well in order for the first meeting this winter. The definite plans are not known but it is believed that the two new clubs will come from Indiana. This would give the league three clubs for the Hoosier State, as Richmond is already a member. Rushville and Newcastle are the towns, it is believed, which will be invited to come into the organization. The latter is anxious to join a league and if not the K. I. O., will probably go in the Indiana. The team there had quite a successful season this year, playing to large crowds every Sunday. Newcastle is a good town, and if secured would no doubt hold its own. Richmond would like to see both of these admitted, as it would create a great deal of interest in that section of Indiana.

The make-up of the rest of the league is still somewhat in doubt, but there is every reason to expect that Dayton and Miamisburg, the champion sponge throwers of this season will again be back in the fold along with Middletown and Hamilton. Another team will be from Cincinnati. Several applications have been made to President Martin by some fast clubs. The Bell Telephone boys who have pulled some very interesting contests out of the fire, have inside track, it is said. The Phone Boys will probably use the Hippodrome Park. They have a large following and could no doubt make a success of league ball.

With the amount of bad breaks the up-State managers had this year, it would seem incredible that they are out so early making preparations for next season. However, it is the right dope, and one would be surprised hearing them talk of 1913. They realize that this season was more or less one of those freaky kind, which do not come very often, but crop up every once in a while to cause annoyance and make the managers wish that it had already happened and that they could get back to the real run the next day.

HOW ABOUT FREMONT?

The Indianapolis Star declares editorially that Abraham Lincoln founded the Republican party. Rain, For Second Time Interfered With Ball Game Between Newcastle and Locals.

MAY COME HERE NEXT SUNDAY

Once again the weather man interfered making it impossible for Rushville and Newcastle to play ball. It was the second time within as many weeks that the game has been postponed. The fans in both cities were greatly disappointed as a fast game was expected.

Manager Dal Williams of Newcastle cancelled the game early Sunday morning as it would have been impossible to play. The special train was called off and the fans spent the day talking of "what might have been."

It is not known where the game next Sunday will be played, but as Newcastle is scheduled to play here it is expected that the Maxwells will come. Manager Maibaugh will know tomorrow whether or not Williams will bring his team to this city.

WILL ORGANIZE FOOT BALL TEAM

Rushville Will be Represented This Season by a Fast Independent Eleven.

MEETING WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Rushville will be represented this fall by a fast independent foot ball team if present arrangements go through. There is a good supply of material in the city and it is hoped to put a winning team in the field. The games will be played on the ball grounds in South Main street and the fastest independent teams in the State will be brought here for games.

It has been several years since a good foot ball team represented Rushville and for this reason considerable interest is being shown. A meeting will be held Wednesday night at the Arcade pool room when plans and an organization will be perfected. All candidates are requested to attend the meeting.

BEGIN PRACTICE.

Basket ball practice was begun at the Graham high school building last week. The prospect for a winning five this year in the high school is said to be more encouraging this year than last. The team was unfortunate last year in losing most of its games, not because of such poor playing, but more, it seemed, on account of tough luck. L. B. Smelser is coaching the team this year.

The C. W. B. M. of the Main Street Christian church will hold a basket supper Monday evening September 30, instead of Wednesday evening, October 2. This change is made on account of the Biederwolf meeting.

A Talk With a Progressive Which Has Nothing to Do With Politics

Again the vital question with you is—"What am I going to wear for my winter shoes." Our definition for progressive is Honesty, Highest value for your money and ABSOLUTELY FREE FROM GRAFT. Graft in the shoe business means shoddy shoes at solid shoe prices. Progressive in all the New Style Lasts and Solid Leather. We especially call your attention to our Foster shoes for women. And for the young men The Hound Dawg, Klaxon and Kibosh. We are unequivocally pledged to the progressive platform of the latest styles and leathers and our proposition is lined up with that idea to the shoe wearers of Rush county coupled with the unswerving uniform standard of Maintained High Quality.

NAME MURPHY ONLY AN ALIAS

Man Accused of Obtaining Money
Under False Pretenses by Gasoline Deal is Lee Lynn.

Faces Charge of Forgery in Havana, Ill.—Want to Come For Him.

Roy Murphy, who was arrested here last week when caught in a gasoline swindle and who pleaded not guilty to the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses Saturday afternoon before Judge Blair, is wanted in at least two Illinois towns. The police believe they have made a good "catch," as no telling how many more places he is wanted.

Incidentally the name Murphy is only an alias, his real name being Lee Lynn. In response to inquiries sent out by Chief McAllister, two telegrams have been received each asking that Lee Lynn be held until requisition papers could be obtained, when he would be taken to Illinois. His record, however, is all the police want as he will be tried here and not sent back to the scenes of his first crimes.

The first telegram was from Nokomis, Ill., but did not state on what charge Murphy or Lynn was wanted. The second came from Havana, Ill., and stated he was wanted for forgery. The accused man had admitted to the police that his name is Lynn. He was caught in this when he addressed a letter to his father giving his name as Lynn.

Murphy, alias Lynn, is also a married man according to his statement made to the police. From remarks he has made the police suspect he is wanted for wife desertion as he said he had only been married three months when he came here. It was first thought he had gotten by with more than $363.10 in his 11½ cent a gallon gasoline deal, but no more has been found. The police are awaiting a more detailed description of his crimes in Illinois. The police at both towns heard from promised to send his record by mail and more developments can be expected.

Some time between last evening and this morning a comparative stranger in this locality stepped into "Nature's Hotel," removed his gloves and registered. Immediately there was a scurrying of feet as the hotel employees found him a room, looked after his baggage and planned to make him comfortable as best they could.

About that time a reporter strolled into the hotel lobby, glanced at the register and then became interested, because he saw the stranger had signed his name in a flowing hand—Jack Frost.

PRESIDES AT CLOSING

W. H. Wylie is Officer in Charge at
M. E. Conference.

The Rev. W. H. Wylie, pastor of the St. Paul M. E. church, presided at the closing session of the Indiana M. E. conference at Jeffersonville this afternoon. The meeting was devoted to a speech by Charles W. Faribanks, former vice-president of the United States. The occasion was the Methodist hospital memorial. The assignments were to be read today. It is presumed that the Rev. M. Wylie will be returned here as a request has been made that he be sent back.

SHELTON COMES ACROSS FOR TAFT

Knightstown Attorney Renounces His Allegiance to Democratic Party
—to Support Republican.

SAYS IT IS HIS ONLY COURSE

James L. Shelton, the wellknown Knightstown attorney, who has long been identified with the Democratic party in several important capacities, has renounced his allegiance to that political organization and states that at the next election he will cast his vote for William H. Taft and the Republican ticket, says the New Castle Courier.

"The country is too prosperous and conditions are too good to make a change in the management of the country's affairs," declared Mr. Shelton. "I therefore cannot vote for Woodrow Wilson and support the Democratic platform and its principles. Neither am I in sympathy with the socialistic and wild doctrines of Theodore Roosevelt and his bull moose principles. Therefore, there is but one course for me to take and that is to vote for William H. Taft."

Mr. Shelton's announcement was made in this city and was enthusiastically received by the Republican leaders. His action shows the trend of political affairs and indicates that the people have returned to safe and sane manner of thinking.

Mr. Shelton says he has seen the country become prosperous and the people contented under Republican administrations and consequently there was but one course for him to pursue—help maintain that condition.

PAY YOUR DEBTS AND GET RIGHT

Dr. W. E. Biederwolf Admonishes the Church Members in Order to Make Campaign Prosper.

TALKS BRIEFLY AT OPENING

Promises to Have Tabernacle Warm
For the Next Service, Tuesday
Night—None on Monday.

"If the church members of Rushville will spend a good part of the night on their knees and then walk down town the next morning and pay their debts the simultaneous campaign in Rush county will be boundedly successful," was the declaration of Dr. W. E. Biederwolf at the opening of the revival in the Big tabernacle Sunday night.

He said it was essential that the church members get right before a revival could prosper. He pointed out that if the average merchant were asked to identify himself with the church, he said no, and showed lots of his bad accounts were owed by church members.

Dr. Biederwolf talked only fifteen minutes last night because of the chilly atmosphere and the lack of any heating apparatus. He promised that the tabernacle would be completed, and that stoves to heat it would be provided by Tuesday night. No services will be held on Monday nights during the meeting, but will be held all other nights, including Saturday. After this week afternoon meetings will be held. The evangelist said sawdust would be put on the ground under the seats so the health of the people in the audience would not be imperiled.

Dr. Biederwolf devoted a few moments last night to saying a few things to the critics. He said church members who had found fault with the campaign must line up on one side or the other. He asserted the meeting would be criticized by all the blacklegs, booze fighters and other people opposed to the church, and that if church members wanted to get on that side, come out in the open and do so.

The evangelist devoted most of the short talk to the admonition to the church members to get right. He said Rushville would have been converted long ago if good ministers would do, with the added comment that congregations shut their pastors up in ice boxes and expect them to sweat.

A parade of children will be held next Saturday afternoon and a parade of the grownups is contemplated later in the campaign. The first cottage prayer meetings will be held Tuesday morning. Collections will be taken each night until the overhead expenses are settled. Dr. Biederwolf introduced each of the party of six.

E. C. Miller, second basso in the quartet, will have charge of the entire State evangelistic campaign, of which this is the first. Here he will be in charge of all meetings outside the tabernacle, such as the factory, street and school meetings. James Heaton, second tenor and soloist, is business manager and in general charge of the Rushville campaign. William McEwan, first tenor and soloist, has charge of the chorus work. Carl Liggett is pianist and first basso. Miss May Parshall, personal worker, will have charge of the Bible study and work with girls and women. Don Cochran is in charge of the tabernacle and advertising.

NEW INDUSTRY TO START SOON

Base Ball Score Card Factory Employing 150 People Begins Operation October 21.

WILL PERRY, THE PROMOTER

Capacity of Plant Will be One Million
Cards Per Day—Comes After Eight Years.

The new industry, which promises to be a big thing for Rushville, will be opened October 21. It is the manufacture of a base ball score card, the invention of Will Perry. The score card is a wonder and next season will see it at every league park in the country, no matter how large or small.

The immensity of the industry can be gleaned from the capacity of the factory which will be located in Arthur street next to the C. H. & D. railway. The factory when in operation will employ 150 people and will have an output of one million score cards per day. The factory and manufacture of the cards is the realization of eight years labor on the part of Will Perry, the inventor and owner of the card.

Work on the factory will start this week and it is hoped to have everything in readiness by October 21. The factory will be modern in every respect. The printing presses, five in number are a special made type. The presses are to be automatically fed and besides printing the cards, has an eye-letting attachment and also a cutter. Besides the factory employing 150 people, Mr. Perry will open a down-town office over the Better pool room which will require the services of 20 people. The office will be the main one of the factory and all the business will be handled from this city. Mr. Perry plans to put ten salesmen in each State.

"I expect to put out one million of the cards a day," said Mr. Perry this morning, "and I don't say this because I want to sell stock because there is none for sale. I am putting all I have in this and will be the sole owner."

Mr. Perry has a world of confidence in his score card and so have all that have seen it. The score card will be introduced for the first time at the world's series. Mr. Perry will leave tomorrow for New York and will look after the business of disposing of 600,000 of the cards at Boston and New York during the coming games. Two hundred thousand will be disposed of in Chicago at the series between the Cubs and the White Sox.

The score card itself is a wonder and so accurate does it record the plays that it seems almost human. For eight years Mr. Perry studied and labored on the invention. A ball player himself, Mr. Perry knew the game and with this inside knowledge started to perfect a score card that would be appreciated by the public. The card is ten inches square and is marked off in the shape of a ball diamond. The positions of the nine players are marked off and by the turn of a dial each play is recorded. The card is not complicated and is so arranged that every fan if he so desires can keep a box score of the game.

Mr. Perry presented the card to the National commission and so much did they think of it that it was adopted for the betterment of the national game. The commission was deeply impressed by the card and asked Perry to record many almost impossible plays on the card. Any play Tom Lynch could name was shown on the score card and in the end the "powers that be" in base ball adopted it.

Mr. Perry worked on the theory that the score card advertisers would pay more money for a place on a card that was permanent than on one which is cheaply constructed and is in use today. The plan he advances is to let the ball club secure the advertisements and buy the cards direct from the plant here ready for distribution. Each day the fans will be given a card free of charge by the ball club and instead of being a cheap affair will be something worth keeping.

The card for the world series were printed by a Dayton firm.

WOMAN ARRESTED ON TWO CHARGES

Mrs. Minnie Montgomery Arraigned
in Circuit Court This Morning on

PLEADED NOT GUILTY TO BOTH

Mrs. Minnie Montgomery, living in the western part of the city, was arrested this morning by Sheriff Bebout on two grand jury indictments, one charging her with contributing to delinquency and the other with running a house of ill fame. Mrs. Montgomery was arraigned before Judge Blair and pleaded not guilty. She was taken to jail in default of $150 bond.

Shortly before Mrs. Montgomery was arraigned in court a divorce suit in which she is the defendant, was set for trial Friday morning. Her husband, John Montgomery, is bringing the suit which was filed during the summer vacation. Nothing much of importance was done in court today.

PURPLE AND OLD GOLD SHOW COLORS

Merchants Will be Asked to Decorate Uniformly For Fall Event—
Prizes For Corn.

$30 IN PREMIUMS OFFERED

Old gold and purple have been selected for the horse show colors, which event will be held Wednesday and Thursday, October 16 and 17. Each merchant will be supplied with samples of the colors so that the decorations will all be uniform.

It was announced today that prizes would be offered for two kinds of corn at the show. A first premium of ten dollars will be given the best half bushel of yellow corn. A second prize of five dollars will be given for a similar quantity of white corn. W. A. Jones has assigned fifteen head of high class horses to the combination sale which will be held at the Davis sale barn in conjunction with the show. The sale will be for two days this year, the two following the horse show. Heretofore the sale has been for one day only.

PROHIBITION MEETING.

A Prohibition meeting will be held here next Saturday. A conference will be held at two o'clock in the afternoon in the court house and the speaker will be I. N. Grisse of Indianapolis.

THEIR ANNIVERSARY.

The Rebekahs will celebrate their anniversary Friday night, Sept. 27, with degree work and a basket supper. Members of the Falmouth lodge will be there as guests.

FORMER PASTOR IS NOMINATED

Gurlef Gensen of Shelbyville is Nami-
ed as Bull Moose Candidate
For Congress.

Few Delegations Have Required Number—Four Delegates From
Rush County Attend.

In less than an hour after the second Bull Moose convention of the Sixth district came to order in Connersville this morning, the Rev. Gurlef Gensen of Shelbyville, formerly pastor in the Indiana M. E. conference, was nominated for congress by acclamation, there being no contest. The Rev. Mr. Gensen once preached at Falmouth for two years. He has retired from the ministry due to failing eyesight and has gone in for politics.

The people ruled in this convention as they are supposed to in all Bull Moose conventions. There were less than a hundred people in the Odd Fellows hall, where it was held, and there were few, if any full delegations. Wayne county apparently had the only delegation in which there was the required number of delegates. Whenever a vote was taken, a motion was made, and carried, to instruct the secretary to vote the entire vote of the convention.

Rush county was about as well off, apparently, as any other county in the district. Less than one-third of the delegation from this county was present. Ben L. McFarlan, county chairman, led the herd of Moose, which consisted of three, J. M. Gwinn of this city, Dawsie Callihan of Walker township and Will Trowbridge of Washington township.

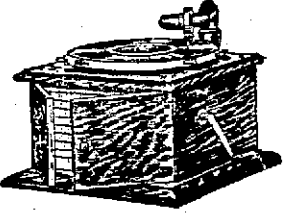

Franklin and Henry were just as good as Rush. They each had four. The Henry county delegation was composed of the county chairman, W. R. Wilson, Rider R. Steele, Robert Holsinger and Joseph A. Greenstreet, the deposed candidate who was fairly and honestly nominated at the first convention held in Richmond September 3.

After several slight hints, during the speeches, were thrown to Greenstreet that he should get up and lay bare the delicate fact that he had no sore spots as the result of being kicked out by the district bosses, Greenstreet arose to the occasion manfully. He declared that many people thought he really ought to be sore, but that he wasn't. He said there were men in the convention with whom he had fought over the ground of the charges preferred against him, and with whom he would do the same thing again if necessary, but that he felt he should not sacrifice his party's principles for personal feelings.

The convention was opened by rudolph leads, the district chairman, who read the resignation of Greenstreet. A Wayne county delegate promptly moved the action of the first convention be rescinded and that Greenstreet's resignation be received. Ben McFarlan offered a second to the motion. The chairman ruled the motion out of order, because the election of officers came first. Tom Stoops of Connersville was elected chairman and Rider Steele of Newcastle, secretary.

The Wayne county delegate finally got in his motion and the Henry county chairman, before the question was put, read a letter, which he said should be made public in all fairness to Greenstreet, and in which Greenstreet asserted he would not make the race for the second nomination. Hunt of Wayne county questioned the necessity of rescinding the ac-

Hargrove & Mullin,NATION PLANS TO HONOR RILEYHoosier Poet Will be Center of Greatest Ovation Ever Tender-
ed American Writer.

Greatest of Indiana's Men of Letters
Recovers in Health—Oct. 7
His Birthday.During the second week of October, James Whitcomb Riley, the beloved Hoosier poet, will be the center
of the greatest ovation ever tendered an American writer.October 7th is the poet's birthday
but owing to the fact that the celebration in his honor will be of such
to confine it to one day, it has been decided to extend it over a period of
six days beginning on Monday, October 7th, and ending Saturday, October 12th. Indianapolis, Mr. Riley's home, has taken the lead in this event, but the movement has spread
like wildfire and it is doubtful whether there is a city or town in the United States which will not have one or more events scheduled in honor of
the poet, who, through the medium of
his verses, has struck a responsive
chord in every breast and has succeeded in bringing poetry home to the people. Riley programs have long been popular with literary clubs, and
during Riley week these programs
will take on an added interest. Mr.
children. Like his great predecessor,
Longfellow, he has been able to fath-
om the beauties of the child nature better than most men, and many of his best poems have been written for or about children. For this reason
"Riley Week" will be generally observed in the schools with special exercises.Mr. Riley is now enjoying excellent health. The paralysis which manifested itself in his right arm
more than a year ago is rapidly disappearing and he says he feels as well as he ever did in his life. Every day he takes a long ride in and about Indianapolis and the surrounding country in his big touring car,
and he is known as an enthusiastic motorist. He is always happy and is usually surrounded by a group of close friends.No man in America has more friends than James Whitcomb Riley.
During the years he traveled as a lecturer he met thousands of people,
who, attracted by his magnetic personality, became warmly attached to
him. There are hundreds of thousands more who have never met him
personally, but who are his friends
nevertheless. They are the ones who have been reached by his verse, for so sympathetic is this great man that it would be hard indeed to find a man, woman or child who does not appreciate Riley.Although Mr. Riley is recognized as a great poet by critics of the sternest school, he prefers to be known as an humble singer who raises his voice that humanity may be benefitted by a little of life's sunshine. He has found the good elements of everything and so optimistic
is his philosophy that he has never found it necessary even to hint at the sordid things of life. This is one of the reason why he has won
so large an audience and why, when he was simply writing a daily column
of verse for an Indianapolis newspaper long before his name was well known, he attracted the attention of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.There is no more popular man in Indianapolis than James Whitcomb
Riley, and this popularity does not come merely from the fact that he is a world figure. He was popular long before he was famous and when in
his presence one forgets the fact that he is the greatest American poet. He is just a man, simple, unassuming,
likable. His fellow townsmen have always taken pride in doing him
honor, and that pride will be greater than ever during the celebration of
"Riley Week."GETS ODD LETTER

Bayard Veiller's intensely interesting
new play of absorbing heart interest,
presented under the managerial direction of A. H. Woods, who is favorably known to theatre goers as
sponsor for "Madam Sherry," "The Fascinating Widow" and other of the most memorable successes of recent years.In this thrilling drama of life of the present time in a large city, Mr.
Veiller has placed on the stage the career of a young woman who has served a prison sentence for a crime
unjustly fastened on her. Upon being freed she finds that the penitentiary taint cannot be shaken off, and
is compelled to take to the pavements, or develop a new mode of life along criminal lines, but just out of reach of the officers of the law.
This latter course she adopts, acquiring amazing ingenuity and prey-
ing upon society almost at will, yet
avoiding punishment by remaining always "within the law," using its falsities and technicalities to guard her against police interference.
"Within the Law" has a strong human appeal and brings out with engrossing, dramatic emphasis certain
often discussed phases of modern metropolitan life such as industrial slavery, sociology, questionable police practices and the difficulties
that seem to prevent criminals from really reforming.Ann Davis, a talented and beauti-

is unusually elaborate for a dramatic

Statement Shows Economic Claims Made by Former President Are Not Borne Out by Facts.

(Special to the Daily Republican)
New York, Sept. 23.—The Republican National Committee has prepared a statement showing that the economic claims made by President Roosevelt are not borne out by facts. It is stated that the aggregate public expenditure increased steadily for several years under Mr. Roosevelt. During the last year of his administration the total of the current operating expenses had attained the unprecedented figure of $662,324,444, and during that year there was a deficit of $58,000,000. Thus, by ignoring opportunities for effecting economies and introducing efficiency, President Roosevelt had permitted a surplus of $90,000,000 in 1902 to become a deficit of $58,000,000 in 1909, and during that period of seven years the ordinary expenses of government had increased $181,000,000, or 40 per cent.

Hence the increase in the cost of conducting the ordinary governmental operations during the Roosevelt regime was almost 6 per cent annually; it was 4 per cent during the preceding period of ten years, and approximately 3 per cent a year during the decade of 1882-92.

"LAYING UP" FOR BOSTON

President's Next Big Address Will be Delivered This Week.

(Special to the Daily Republican)
Beverly, Mass., Sept. 23.—The next big address to be made by President Taft will be delivered in Boston this week at the dinner of the International Chamber of Commerce. No other President has shown greater interest than Mr. Taft in commercial questions. He has given all the encouragement in his power to make the forthcoming conference a success and urges congress to appropriate $50,000 with which the federal government might cooperate with local bodies to show the delegates some of the industrial wonders of the United States, but the Democratic house, with characteristic breadth of vision, refused to make the appropriation.

NO SOUTHERN VOTES FOR T. R.

Greensboro, N. C., Sept. 23.—Robert S. Sloan, of this city, a nephew of former Governor Robert S. Glenn, of North Carolina, who knows the political situation in this State perhaps better than any other man, declares that Taft will win more votes in the South than Roosevelt. He declares that Roosevelt will not obtain enough of the Southern vote to notice.

YOUNG MEN WORK FOR TAFT.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 23.—The young men of Massachusetts are trying to form the biggest organization of young men working for the re-election of President Taft in the country. Taft clubs have been formed in Peabody, Danvers, Haverhill and Marblehead, while older organizations in Salem and other cities report that every day brings recruits to the Republicans from Democratic and Progressive ranks.

Brisk Battle Near Border Below Naco, Ariz.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 23.—Not far south of Naco, Ariz., on the Southern Pacific road between Naco and Cananea, 350 Mexican rebels and 250 federalists are fighting in Sonora. A train, the first into Cananea bearing passengers since the destruction of the track two weeks ago, was attacked by rebels when it reached a bridge at Kilometer 22. Sixty federalists aboard the train as guards, with a machine gun, dismounted and answered the rebel attack. The rebels had dismounted, leaving their horses behind the hills. The train returned to Naco for reinforcements, and the rebels also sent for reinforcements. When the train returned with its additional federalists the rebels had also been augmented and the fight began in earnest. General Pascual Orozco and his rebel cavalry, who made their escape into Coahuila following their defeat a week ago at Ojinaga, are making their way toward Porfiriio Diaz, which is opposite Eagle Pass, according to a telegram received here.

CLAPTRAP BY UNDERWOOD

Tariff Duties Not Paid by Users of American Goods.

Workers Will Recognize His Distortion of Figures and Facts and Will Not Be Beguiled by It—Shows How Hard Pushed the Democrats Are
For an Argument.

It is to be hoped that every American worker in the various industries protected by the tariff will read the address of Mr. Underwood, Democratic leader in the house of representatives, in which he sets forth as taxation the tariff duties on articles in ordinary use. There is nothing novel in the Underwood distortion of tariff figures and facts. It is as threadbare as free trade, as threadbare as the American workingman would soon be if he should allow himself to be beguiled by Underwood and other votaries of the late Confederate constitution into the surrender of Republican protection.

It is true, as Underwood says, that the tariff taxes he describes are imposed on articles such as he describes—woolen clothing, shoes, the tin pail, window pane, carpet, etc., but he is wholly and deliberately wrong and misleading when he says that the duties in question are imposed on or added to the cost of these articles, as used in the ordinary American family.

The tariff tax is imposed on goods manufactured abroad and imported for sale in competition with goods made in America by American workers earning American wages.

The man or woman who is satisfied with the product of American labor—and nine-tenths of the American people are so satisfied—has no tariff tax to pay, and this is shown by the fact that the American article, with its manufacture fostered by protection, is often cheaper in price than the imported would be without paying tariff duties.

The tariff duties prevent excessive imports, which would flood the markets, as imported goods flooded the market under the tariff reductions made by the Democratic Wilson bill of 1894, reducing not only the tariff, but reducing also the demand for American goods and for American labor to make American goods.

Mr. Underwood's statement is cheap claptrap. We had supposed that style of talk too muddy and cobwebbed for further exercise, and the fact that it is again dragged out of the discard proves how hard pushed the free trade Democracy is for something to bolster its waning cause.

Taft's Attorney General Stands for the "Square Deal."

Attorney General Wickersham reflects the broad American spirit of himself and his chief, President Taft, in his splendid fight against the dropping from membership in the American Bar association of his able colored assistant, William H. Lewis. It is needless to say that every supporter of Woodrow Wilson and every sympathizer with Theodore Roosevelt in his refusal to recognize the citizenship of the southern negro, is opposed to Mr. Wickersham in his battle for equal rights and fair treatment for colored Americans.

The action of the executive committee of the Bar association in revoking the election of three colored members, gentlemen of spotless professional standing and excellent personal character, by their local committees, was outrageously, cruelly unjust and ought to be repudiated by every reputable lawyer in the United States. It was a concession to that southern Democratic prejudice which seeks to crush the spirit of manly aspiration in the negro's breast and to tolerate him only as a laborer on the plantations and for the households where his ancestors were slaves. It amounts to an attempt to nullify the constitution of the United States, as amended after the rebellion, by men whose sacred obligation and welcome duty it should be to support that instrument in their every act as lawyers and as citizens.

In their resolute backing of Assistant Attorney General Lewis against the assaults of rank Bourbonism and racial prejudice, President Taft and his attorney general have the god-speed of every American who believes in the principles for which Lincoln died, and who is determined that the sacrifices which the nation offered up on the altar of freedom and equal rights for all shall not have been made in vain.

The Wilson Fall Frost.

The free trade Evening Post publishes a lot of figures to show what would happen if all the states voted the same as Vermont in November.

A two-and-three-makes-five school-boy could tell the free trade Evening Post that if all the states should vote in November the same way Vermont has voted Taft would have the whole electoral college.

It came early, but it came with a bite to it—the Wilson fall frost. Bryan and Parker were both elected in August and buried under a snowstorm of ballots in November, and Wilson is hurrying to the same snow pile.

WILSON WOULD REPEAL ALL PROTECTIVE TARIFF LAWS.

The following is taken from an address delivered by Professor Woodrow Wilson before the tariff board in 1882, showing his view then on the question of the tariff and the distinct announcement of his position as a free trader, opposed to all tariffs except merely for the purpose of raising revenue:

"But the danger of imposing protective duties is that when the policy is once embarked upon it cannot be easily receded from. Protection is nothing more than a bounty, and when we offer bounties to manufacturers they will enter into industries and build up interests and when at a later day we seek to overthrow this protective tariff we must hurt somebody and of course there is objection. They will say, 'Thousands of men will be thrown out of employment and hundreds of people will lose their capital.' This seems very plausible; but I maintain that manufacturers are made better manufacturers whenever they are thrown upon their own resources and left to the natural competition of trade."

"Protection also hinders commerce immensely. The English people do not send as many goods to this country as they would if the duties were not so much and in that way there is a restriction of commerce and we are building up manufacturing help at the expense of commerce. We are holding ourselves aloof from foreign countries in effect and saying, 'We are sufficient to ourselves; we wish to trade, not with England, but with each other.' I maintain that it is not only a pernicious system, but a corrupt system."

"By Commissioner Garland:
"Q. Are you advocating the repeal of all tariff laws?"

"A. Of all protective tariff laws; of establishing a tariff for revenue merely. It seems to me very absurd to maintain that we shall have free trade between different portions of this country and at the same time shut ourselves out from free communication with other producing countries of the world. If it is necessary to impose restrictive duties on goods brought from abroad it would seem to me as a matter of logic, necessary to impose similar restrictions on goods taken from one state of this Union to another. That follows as a necessary consequence; there is no escape from it."

HAS CHANGED AS CANDIDATE

Woodrow Wilson's Speeches Now
Those of Office Seeker.

Scattered among the platitudes of Dr. Wilson's speech of acceptance are some truths. None is more significant than this:

Following which he makes believe that he is telling the voters of the country his position on the campaign issues. No one has yet been able to determine from a reading of the speech precisely what that position is. Some slight enlightenment comes from time to time in his later utterances, like, for example, the declaration the other day that Tammany is to be safe from his assaults; but none of it is satisfying.

Dr. Wilson, in the preconvention days, was represented to the country as a scholarly gentleman, too lofty of mind to practice the wiles of the professional politician, too earnest in the cause of good government to be caught but frank and fearless in his expression, too unselfish to put private ambition above the public weal, too idealistic in character to truckle to the forces of evil in the nation.

But how singularly he has masked all of these qualities since William Jennings Bryan forced his nomination at Baltimore.

There is no difference, save in the purity of the English, between his speeches and the speeches of the professional office seeker of the worst period in American politics. He steps pussy footed over all the large questions of the day. He exhibits a suspiciously broad tolerance for all elements in the body politic, even the elements which to nominate him, Bryan found it expedient to denounce by name in the convention. There is none of the rugged frankness of utterance that characterized his writings in the days before he was inoculated with the virus of political ambition. He is proving over apt as an advanced student of practical politics.

It is not a pleasant nor a heartening exhibition he makes of himself. The right minded citizen can feel nothing but sadness in contemplating a man of education and culture so intent upon partisan and personal victory that he sacrifices those ideals of truth and honesty for which he has always stood to fawn upon and honeyfuge the voters.

Dr. Wilson as a candidate is not in character with the Dr. Wilson that was pictured to us prior to the Baltimore convention. This "awakened nation, impatient of partisan make believe," detects the difference.

PROMISE CLASH OVER PLATFORM

Barnes Will Have Plenty of Opposition at Saratoga.

A Strong Contingent of the Delegates to the Coming New York State Republican Convention Will Give State Chairman a Wristle on His Program of Standing by the Rochester Platform Adopted Last Spring.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 23.—In the preliminaries leading up to the Republican state convention, which assemblies here on Wednesday, there is to be plenty of gunpowder and ruction. Indeed, the clashes came at once on the arrival of President Koenig and Herbert Parsons of the New York county delegation and ex-Governor Horace White of Syracuse. Dozens more of Republican delegates to the convention arrived Sunday, and with them came William Barnes, chairman of the Republican state committee. With the arrival of Mr. Barnes and after talks he had with Mr. Parsons and Mr. Koenig, it became known that there is to be trouble enough to satisfy the most belligerent delegate over the platform. In this clash William Berri of Brooklyn and other Kings county Republicans have joined. Mr. Berri believes that the platform to be adopted by this convention shall incorporate what he describes as "living issues of this very live age."

Chairman Barnes does not favor the introduction of the direct nominations plank in the platform. In fact, he is bitterly opposed to that plank. Mr. Barnes believes in standing by the constitution of the United States, endorsing the platform adopted at Rochester last spring, but does not favor to any material extent the introduction of new and live state issues in the platform. And yet he is not opposed to changes in the Levy election law, especially those parts which have been riddled by the courts.

Chairman Barnes issued a statement defining his position. At the outset he makes a comparison between the Progressives' convention at Syracuse and the coming Republican convention. He calls the former a "gathering unhampered by any law," while delegates to the Republican convention have been chosen in accordance with law, and says: "Regarding the candidate for governor, I have no idea whom this convention will nominate for that office. The assumption that I personally have either the power or the inclination to influence the majority of the delegates in behalf of any particular candidate is entirely unwarranted."

A BUSY DAY

The President is Finding His Vacation Time Broken in On.

Washington, Sept. 23.—President Taft this morning attended the opening session of the fifteenth international congress on hygiene and demography. At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon he received the delegates to the national conference of Catholic charities, and later gave a reception to the visiting scientists. This evening he will attend a meeting of the national Emancipation Commemoration society. He will go to New York tomorrow for a political conference with Chairman Hilles of the Republican national committee, and on Wednesday will attend the loyal war governors' conference at Altoona, Pa. He will return to Beverly on Thursday.

In private life if you want to get certain work done, you never pick anyone unless you are pretty certain what he will do after you give him the job.

The same principle holds in public

Sam Sanderson Says:

That there is no chance for backsliders at this meeting because the seats all have backs on them.

however, is to come to those who imagine that they are likely to profit from a reduction in prices by a reduction of the tariff. It is true that a reduction in the duties may be followed by a reduction in price, but with it is likely to come other changes that mean a net loss rather than gain to the average man. In 1893, for instance, there was a great reduction in prices and the one thing more than all else that animated the Democratic party was the demand for a currency system that would increase prices. But the average man did not profit from this condition. On the contrary, he suffered and suffered seriously. The merchant suffered, the wage earner suffered. There was less business and there was less work. Wages were lower and in millions of instances there were no wages. Of course prices may be reduced in this way, but what sane man wants such a change?

Volunteering in School.

A method of conducting school recitations that has gained a good deal of vogue among teachers, is the plan of calling for volunteers to answer questions. At this beginning of the school year, it might be well to ask how far this plan is in use in our schools and if it works well.

Teacher, wishing to know what 8 times 14 is, or where the Chagres river is to be found, asks the whole class. Half a dozen alert little faces send up wiggling arms. She calls on one and gets her answer.

What has happened? The forward, active, quick minded children get a practice on speedy response that they did not need. They think too quickly now.

Meanwhile the slower and more bashful children, who may really have more substantial mental powers could not collect their thoughts quick enough to answer.

No doubt it is a method of instruction that has its strong points. But also it tempts the indolent teacher to think a class knows a lesson when in fact only a part of them know it. The good old time way of calling on all the members in turn was one of those faithful methods that gave the old time school its thoroughness in spite of many faults.

The exports of manufactured goods from our country have passed the billion dollar mark, in spite of the claim that only under free trade could our manufacturers develop an export business.

Woodrow Wilson will have a long time after November 5 to rest the hand the blacksmith grasped so painfully.

What Our Neighbors
Are Talking About

(Ft. Wayne News.)

William Dudley Foulke, one of our most famous little letter writers, was very desirous of becoming the Bull Moose congressional candidate for the Richmond district. At the convention, however, the Moosers got together, concluded Foulke simply wouldn't do, and nominated another man in his place. Naturally Mr. Foulke was somewhat perturbed to realize that after all his clatter even an empty honor was begrudged him, and being a mighty poor loser, he proceeded to shoot his successful competitor full of holes, utilizing his Richmond newspaper as his gun. Although this competitor had allied himself with the new party of purity, progress and perfection solely and wholly for the purpose of advancing the cause of humanity, it appears that back in the time when he was a Republican he had not been at all times altogether impeccable. What William Dudley Foulke did to him was enough to make the angels weep. The attack had the desired effect, too, and now the Sixth district bull moosers have no congressional candidate.

It is to be sincerely hoped, however, that they will not long be without one, and that Mr. Foulke will be tendered the honor he has so assiduously sought with the implements of a Korean headhunter. Surely, no better chance could be accorded the people of his home town and district to prove to him what they really think of him.

Gurriel Gensen of Shelbyville was nominated by Schultze, the Franklin county chairman. Several seconding speeches followed. They were made by personal friends of Gensen. J. Oscar Hall, Shelby county chairman and defeated Republican candidate for prosecutor, was one of the speech makers.

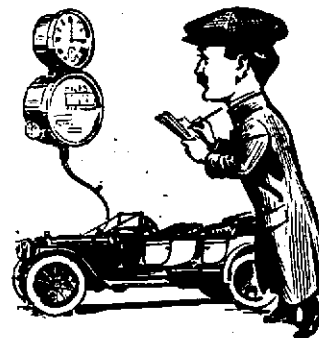

W. R. Wilson, the Henry county chairman, said he represented the Bull Moosers in his county, which consisted mostly of the three delegates with him, and that they were all satisfied with the way the convention turned out.

The Henry county Moosers are all torn up over the county ticket question. When they decided to put out a county ticket, five committeemen resigned. They, together with other Moosers opposing the county ticket, have formed an independent Progressive party. The county convention of the original party is to be held tomorrow. This morning snap township conventions to name delegates to the county convention, about which the people knew nothing, were held.

In his speech of acceptance Gensen declared he had no intimation he was to be nominated, and a few moments later declared he had assurances of support from every county excepting Hancock, and he saw a fellow from there who said: "They're red hot over here."

Gensen assumed that the Bull Moose platform will save all the boys and girls from whatever trickery the old parties had ever perpetrated against them. He held up the platform as a panacea for all ills. He asserted the platform would rectify the trouble that always causes business depression in campaign years.

The Shelbyville News is authority for the statement that Gensen is an independent in politics and that he voted for William J. Bryan every time he bobbed up.

WATSON TALKS TO CAPACITY HOUSE

Former Congressman Gives Republican Speech at Noblesville After Big Automobile Parade.

BULL MOOSE PARTY BOSSES

The Republicans of Hamilton county opened their campaign in Noblesville Friday night with an address at the opera house by James E. Watson. The house, which has a seating capacity of 1200, was filled to overflowing. C. H. Tomlinson, county chairman, presided. There was an automobile parade before the speaking, in which one hundred machines participated.

Mr. Watson first discussed the Republican State platform. He then took up the tariff question and said the Republican party had showed its wisdom in the enactment of the Aldrich law. He said he defied any man to point out a single factory that was closed or a single man who had been thrown out of employment or any markets that had been crippled as the result of the operation of the law.

On the subject of bossism Mr. Watson said the biggest bosses were leading the Bull Moose party. Roosevelt and Beveridge are both bosses, Mr. Watson said.

AMUSEMENTS

The Princess will show for the first picture tonight a Lubin drama, "Together." Orma Hawley is featured in this picture. The other is a Pathe comedy, "A Question of Size." Tomorrow night a feature Biograph, "Heaven Avenges" will be shown.

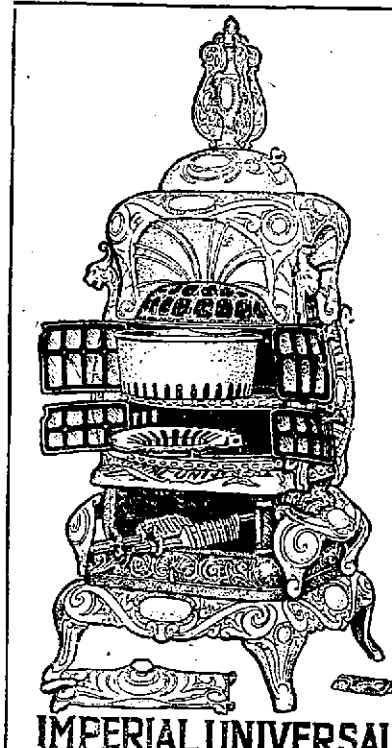

A production of Wagner's "Parsifal" will be seen at English's the first three days of the week, the engagement including a matinee performance. It is the dramatic version that will be presented and it is, of course, unnecessary to say that the situations are effective and the settings beautiful. Especially notable is the scene between the elements of good and evil, the conflict between light and darkness. The curtain, it is especially announced, will rise promptly at 8 o'clock and at 2 o'clock.

Cottage Prayer Meetings

Cottage prayer meetings open tomorrow morning at 9:30. Each hostess is requested to hang out a white flag. The list of houses and leaders follows:

When You Buy a Base Burner You Make or Lose Money

The Imperial Universal

is larger in the body, flues and general construction throughout than any other Base Burner in the market. It has more radiating surface and hot air circulating capacity than others. Its fire pot is extra heavy and deep, insuring a clean fire. Its fire pot and grates are easily removed without the use of any tools whatever. Its nickled parts can be quickly taken off without loosening a single bolt.

Its use insures warm floors and uniform temperature throughout the rooms, no matter how cold the weather outside. Come in and examine this stove thoroughly before making your selection, prices $30 to $60

The Sable Lorcha

BY Horace Hazeltine

(Copyright, 1912, A. C. McClary & Co.)
We had not been speeding so well during the afternoon; there was some trouble reported from the engine room, and it was a question whether we had made over fifteen knots an hour since two o'clock. I know that at ten o'clock that night, when the moon went down, we were somewhere east of Nantucket, and directly in the path of the transatlantic liners.

The night was balmy as a night in springtime, and Cameron and I in light overcoats sat on the after-deck, watching the moon slide slowly below the dark horizon line. Our chairs were close together, facing the lee rail; his the farther astern. We talked of many things, I remember. He was always interested in my work, and especially in my ambitions to make The Week a power for national good; and I remember that we discussed several projects I then had in mind for bringing about reform in high places. But the subject which then interested me most, and regarding which I still experienced a vague, unreasoning uneasiness, he had avoided throughout the day and evening, with what seemed to me studied intent.

The sudden cessation of hostilities on the part of those whom he had been given every reason to look upon as his implacable enemies, was certainly strange enough to have invited endless debate; and I marvelled that, after having accepted my falsehood as truth, he had not chosen to go over with me the whole marvelously perplexing business.

His mind, I knew, was relieved by what I had made him believe, or he would not now be the man he was; but despite that, it appeared to me, it would be most natural for him, on this day of all days—the twenty-first of the month—to question, at least, my previously emphatically stated conclusions.

There had been a moment of silence between us, and these reflections were dominant with me, as six bells, ringing out musically, announced that midnight was but an hour distant. At that instant, while in time to the bell's strokes, there echoed in my brain the words: "Know then, that before the morning of the eighth day hence—" Cameron, lowering his cigar, turned to me with:

"Clyde, I wonder if you have forgotten what day this is?"

I don't know why, coming at just that particular juncture, the question should be more upsetting than if it had come at some other time of day, but I know it seemed so to me.

For a little space my tongue refused its office. There was a lump in my throat which demanded to be swallowed, and I made a pretence of coughing to hide my plight. At length I answered, a bit lamely:

"No, I haven't forgotten. It's Wednesday, the twenty-first of October."

He returned his cigar to his lips and smoked in silence for a full minute. Then, he said, quietly:

"It's seven days since that empty envelope came."

"Yes," I returned.

There was another slight pause and he went on:

"I have been thinking that possibly you were wrong about the significance of that empty envelope. Possibly those enigmatical persons intended that absence of a definite threat to imply the inconceivably terrible."

Now that he had started to talk about it, I wished that he had continued his silence. I could not understand how I had convinced him before, knowing all the while that I was without truth to support me. Certainly, now, pervaded as I was with that grim disquietude, it would be even more difficult to carry conviction with my words.

"Whatever they intended," I ventured, yielding a fraction of a point, "it seems to me that they'll have some difficulty in carrying it out. There are no portraits here to mutilate and no mirrors to smash. For the previous performances there must be some more or less simple explanation. Neither you nor I believe in the supernatural; therefore the things that happened at Cragholt were brought about by natural means, seemingly inexplicable as they were. Now no natural means can be brought to bear to perform any such legerdemain on this yacht. You know that. There's not a man here, except that poor old fisherman, that we don't know all and everything about. So, I say, no matter what they planned; this time they are outwitted." And even as I said it, I saw clearly before my vision these words: "Say not Heaven is high above! Heaven ascends and descends about our deeds, daily inspecting us wheresoever we are."

"Then you agree with me? You think something may have been planned?"

"I wouldn't pretend to interpret their symbolism," I answered evasively. "The empty envelope impressed me as synonymous with saying, 'Nothing more at present!' Even now I think that if they had meant to continue they would have said so. I'm almost sure they would."

I was quite sure, of course, but I dared not say so.

Cameron smoked on quietly for a while in a ruminative mood. Eventually he threw the end of his cigar over the rail, and leaned forward.

"I don't know," he said perplexedly. "I don't know."

This I hoped was to be the end of the matter, for tonight at least; but presently he began to talk of those first two letters, to conjecture, to wonder, to dissect phrases, to dig out subtleties of meaning from euphemistic expressions. And then I knew that he had every word memorized, just as I had.

Seven bells had struck and we were still talking. But now and then there were pauses in our converse—intervals of silence of varying length—during which I sat with my gaze stretching out over the black waters and my hearing strained for any unusual sound. More than once during the evening I thought I had detected far off the pounding note of a motor boat's exhaust, but had put the notion aside as too improbable for entertainment. Now, faintly, I seemed to hear it again; not so distant, but muffled.

I got up and stood close to the rail, and listened with ear bent. Then I determined to go to my cabin for a night glass which I had included among my traps. But at that moment the sound, which I had made sure of, ceased, and I stood a second or two longer, expecting it to resume.

Altogether it was not over a minute or two that I stood there. It seemed much less than that. Then I turned with a question for Cameron. I wondered whether he had heard the sound too.

"I say, Cam—" I began, and stopped, startled, with his name half uttered.

His chair was empty. He was not on deck. I ran to the saloon. He was not there. I flung open the door of his stateroom. He was not there, either. I had the yacht searched for him. He was not on the yacht.

CHAPTER IX.

A Craft Without Lights. Composure is second nature with me. I claim no credit for it; it is a matter of temperament rather than cultivation. But now my temperament was all awry, and my composure fled me. I was excited. More than that, I was frantic, distracted, rattled. I wanted to do a dozen things at once; to get answers to a score of questions in a single moment. And the consequence may be imagined. For five-ten minutes, nothing was done whatever. Then the search-light was got into play, sweeping the waters on all sides, far and near; but with no result, five or six miles astern we made out a power boat, similar to that which I had seen through the glass earlier in the day. To the eastward a steamer with two funnels was just coming into range. The white sails of a coasting schooner showed to westward. Trailing in our wake was our squalid salvage, the dory of the fisherman.

MacLeod, trained to coolness, retained his wits. Systematically he set to work. Likely and unlikely places aboard the yacht were looked into. Before I knew what he was about, we were going back over the way we had come with the search-light swinging in a circle and a half-dozen sharp-eyed seamen scanning every square foot of rolling wave.

"I can't understand it," I kept repeating aloud, with senseless iteration. "I can't understand it."

I was standing alone, well forward, leaning over the rail. Presently MacLeod laid a hand on my shoulder.

"We can't do anything more than we are doing, Mr. Clyde," he said in his matter-of-fact way. "For my part, I can't understand it, either; but since Mr. Cameron's not aboard, there's only one conclusion, and that is that he's overboard. And since there was no one interested in throwing him there, then it seems very clear that he must have jumped."

"Jumped!" I cried, in irritation. "My God, man! Don't I tell you that I was not three feet away from him, and only for a minute or two? How could he have jumped without my hearing him? How could he even have got out of his chair, without my hearing him?"

The captain shrugged his shoulders. "There's no other explanation," he decided, conclusively.

"You mean he committed suicide?" "Call it what you like, sir."

"But there was no reason for him to do such a thing," I objected.

"I understand he's been pretty ill, sir."

"He was ill, yes. But he was on the road to recovery." And then, with the realization that I was speaking of Cameron in the past tense, as though I were already settled that I should never see him alive again, a shiver of horror swept over me. I know MacLeod observed it, for he said:

"There's been a drop in the temperature, in the last half-hour. It'll be more comfortable in my cabin, sir, if you don't mind coming in, and talking the thing over a bit."

"Good Heavens, MacLeod," I exclaimed, turning on him with nervous savagery, "do you expect me to sit down and talk calmly at such a moment? I can't. It's all I can do to stand still here, for a minute at a time. I feel I must do something. It's torture to have one's hands tied this way."

"I think I know how you feel, sir. But walking the deck will do no good, and if you could calm yourself enough to talk it over quietly, we might get down to something that would guide us, so to speak."

"Guide us?" I repeated.

"Yes, sir. It's not impossible, you know, sir, that when he went overboard he was picked up."

The light from his cabin porthole illuminated us both, and now as he looked at me he must have seen my perplexity.

"You said yourself, sir," he explained, "that you thought you heard the exhaust of some sort of craft not far away."

It was this reminder, I think, which brought back my wool-gathering wits and steadied me to a perception of the real importance of the captain's plea. Of one thing, at least, I was assured: Cameron was not a suicide. How he could have gone over the taffrail without my seeing or hearing him, I should never be able to understand. But gone he was, and it lay upon me to discover by whose assistance this marvelous disappearance was accomplished. And so it came about that, controlling my futile unrest, I was presently seated in MacLeod's swivel chair, while he, from a place on the side of his berth, fired pointed questions at me, which I either answered as best I could or returned in kind.

"Now maybe it's none of my business, Mr. Clyde, but in view of tonight's occurrence I think it's pertinent to know why there was such a thorough inspection of the Sibylla before we sailed, and such a lot of caution regarding the crew." That was the first of his volleys, and for a moment it staggered me. I recognized, however, that this was not a time for quibbling, and as MacLeod had been

An article that has real merit should in time become popular. That such is the case with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been attested by many dealers. Here is one of them. H. W. Hendrickson, Ohio Falls, Ind., writes, "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best for coughs, colds and croup, and is my best seller." For sale by All Dealers.

For years a staunch soldier in Cameron's army of employees, I saw no harm in letting him know the truth. "I'll tell you," I returned, frankly, "but it's not to go any further. In the past nine weeks Mr. Cameron has been receiving a series of threatening anonymous letters. The last one came a week ago today; and in it this was named as the date for the climax." "Climax?" he repeated, questioning-ly.

"Yes. Today, the letter stated, Mr. Cameron would disappear."

The calm, phlegmatic young captain did not start. He simply narrowed his eyes in thought.

"That's odd," he said, gravely, "damned odd." And then, after a second's consideration, he asked: "Was that—but of course it was—why he took this course?"

"No," I told him. "That was not his reason; though it was mine."

I did not mean to be enigmatic, but I suppose I was, for MacLeod showed plainly enough that he failed to understand.

"You see," I went on, in elucidation. "Mr. Cameron did not know about this last threat. He was ill when the letter came, and we kept it from him."

It was evident to me that the captain disapproved, but he held his peace.

"What were the previous threats?" he asked, presently.

"Nothing definite," I answered. "Simply that on certain fixed days the writers would demonstrate their power."

"And did they?" "Most marvelously."

Again MacLeod was silent for a space.

"Under the circumstances, Mr. Clyde, don't you think it would have been better if you'd told me about this?"

"Mr. Cameron was very anxious that no one should know."

The captain compassed his right knee with his locked hands.

"All the same," he said, "he'd never have been spirited off this yacht if I'd known what was in the wind."

This statement annoyed me, and I resented it.

"What could you have done?" I asked. "I was with him almost continuously."

There came a strange, half-meditative, half-bold look in the man's eyes, and I was wondering what it portended, when, quite ignoring my question, he began speaking:

"You see there oughtn't to be any misunderstanding between you and me, sir. This is too serious a business to be bungled because I am only captain of this yacht and you are the owner's friend. So, if I speak plainly, sir, you'll understand why, and not think me disrespectful."

I smiled to reassure him, still puzzled, and added:

"Go straight ahead, captain. You are perfectly right."

"Well," he began, "I'll tell you, Mr. Clyde. Your story, as you told it to me, has some weak points in it. You say, for instance, that you were with Mr. Cameron almost continuously. Now I'm not mentioning the little while you were in here, early in the evening, but during the last quarter of an hour before you gave the alarm, you weren't with him, either."

State Forester Calls On the People to Awaken.

WAYSIDE SHADE DEMANDED

Among Numerous Important Points to Be Emphasized in Forester Deam's Forthcoming Report is One Calling Attention to the Beauty and Utility of Shaded Highways and Value of Shade For Livestock.

Indianapolis, Sept. 23.—In an effort to induce and preserve field and highway tree cultivation throughout the state, Charles C. Deam, state forester, will devote much space in his forthcoming report to an appeal for such cultivation. He will endeavor, too, through publicity to call attention to country dwellers of the necessity and desirability of trees along the highways and in fields.

According to Mr. Deam the people of Indiana have become lax in their attention to trees along country roads. It has become a practice, he says, for farmers to disregard the small growths that spring up along the roadside as the result of seeds being blown by the wind, and such trees, if cultivated, would serve to beautify the countryside.

Particular attention also will be called to the necessity for planting and caring for trees in open fields. This cultivation is being urged to furnish a place of comfort for horses, cattle, sheep and other animals in the fields, furnishing places for shade and shelter.

Recently the state forester made a trip over the state, searching for data on tree cultivation for his report. He took a camera and made photographs of stretches of highways and in fields where trees are allowed to stand, which show the animals take advantage of the shade afforded.

"Many farmers protest that trees in the fields prevent the sun from reaching beneath the branches and thus prevent growth," said Mr. Deam. "This can be prevented by pruning the trees high enough to permit the sun's rays reaching beneath the branches."

DOUBLE TRAGEDY

Spurned, Harry Hector Kills Lucille May and Himself.

Vincennes, Ind., Sept. 23.—Miss Lucille May, a beautiful seventeen-year-old singer with the Knickerbocker Stock company, which closed a week's engagement here Saturday, was shot and instantly killed shortly after midnight Sunday morning by Thomas Harry Davies of Chicago, who, as Harry Hector, posed as a catch-as-catch-can wrestler and ex-middle-weight champion of England. Davies came to Vincennes Saturday morning from Chicago and dogged Miss May's footsteps, once entering a streetcar and there attempting to kill her. Later at the theater she became tangled in her lines when Davies appeared in the audience and attempted to get on the stage. Davies was forcibly ejected.

Just as Miss May and her mother sat down to a midnight lunch at the Savoy restaurant, Davies entered and fired four bullets into the girl's head and body. A cartridge jammed in the barrel, preventing Davies from killing himself as he turned the gun to his head. Davies was arrested within a block of the shooting, and just before daylight succeeded in committing suicide in jail by hanging with a towel rope.

A letter from Miss May, written Sept. 1 and found in Davies's pocket, disclosed that she had jilted him because she had discovered he had a wife and daughter in Pennsylvania.

More Than a Dream.

Connersville, Ind., Sept. 23.—Dreaming that he was falling out of a haymow, John Jacoby, bruised and bleeding, awoke at the foot of a ladder in a livery barn with a realization that his dream had come true. The man slept in the loft. He arose in his sleep and walked to the hole leading to the lower part of the building and fell through it. Jacoby's collar bone was broken.

He Found the Leak.

Boonville, Ind., Sept. 23.—William Matthews, aged fifty-five, manager of the Boonville canning factory, died from injuries received in the explosion of a gasoline tank. Matthews discovered a leak in the gasoline tank and started to repair it. He carried a lantern, which ignited the gasoline. Matthews was found fifteen feet away with his clothes and flesh burned off.

Farmer Hangs Himself.

Diaz Is Non-Committal.

Barritz, Sept. 23.—Your correspondent asked General Porfirio Diaz, who is stopping here, what he thought of the recent demonstration at Mexico City in favor of his return, and whether he intended to go back to that country. General Diaz thanked the correspondent for offering to cable his views, but added: "I am unable to break my rule of not speaking on politics."

REACHED GRANADA WITHOUT A BATTLE

Last Rebel Stronghold In Nicaragua Opened.

Washington, Sept. 23.—At the state department official confirmation of the reports that the American forces had reached Granada, the last rebel stronghold in Nicaragua, has been received. Only a brief message was received, stating that Major Butler and his command of marines and blue-jackets had arrived there. The food supplies given by the American Red Cross also reached Granada safely, and Major Butler began at once to distribute them to the inhabitants of the famine-stricken city.

The taking of Granada and Mazaya by the Americans completely opens the single railroad in Nicaragua, that extending from Corinto, on the Pacific. The chief purpose of the American forces in Nicaragua now becomes that of restoring as rapidly as possible normal conditions. It is stated that the two months of disorder, together with the interruption of railroad and telegraphic communication, has stagnated all business.

Lowell Police Say Girl Confessed Trying to Murder Relatives.

Lowell, Mass., Sept. 23.—Miss Gladys O. Newell, sixteen years of age, is under arrest charged with attempting to murder her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Jordan, of this city. Under questioning, the police say, she admitted that she had put rat poison into the coffee she served her relatives on breakfast on Thursday morning. About a year ago she put poison in the tea, she confessed, so the police declare.

As reasons she told the officers that her aunt had been too severe with her and that a young man friend in New York had written her that if she put them out of the way there would be nothing to prevent her joining him and being happy.

Found With Throat Cut.

San Diego, Cal., Sept. 23.—Captain Sasaki, commander of the imperial Japanese trading ship Taisei Maru, is in a local sanitarium suffering from knife wounds in the throat. He was found unconscious in his cabin. The doctor who took a number of stitches in the wound said he did not know whether the captain had been attacked or attempted suicide.

AIMS AT HIGHER COST OF LIVING

Labor Commissioner Makes Statistical Report.

In the Period Covered by This Official Inquiry It Is Shown That While All of the Fifteen Articles Used as a Basis of Comparison Had Advanced in Cost, Ten Had Increased as Much as Fifty Per Cent.

Washington, Sept. 23.—There has just been completed an investigation into the high cost of living for a period of ten years past conducted by the commissioner of labor, which was extended into thirty-two states and covered fifteen of the principal food products and coal.

The investigation was made in industrial centers, and the commissioner believes covers two-thirds of the articles that enter into working men's necessities.

The report shows that fourteen of the fifteen food articles covered by the investigation were quoted at higher prices on June 15, 1912, than they were a year before, while ten of the articles had advanced in the last ten years more than 50 per cent over the average retail prices for the period 1890-1899.

During the last decade prices of potatoes changed most and sugar the least. Their advances were 11.9 and 8.5 per cent respectively. During the last year bacon, which decreased just one-tenth of 1 per cent, was the only one of the fifteen principal articles of food that showed a decline in price, while nine of the fifteen advanced more than 10 per cent, varying from 2.4 per cent for milk to 18.6 for round steak.

Of the fifteen, only eggs, butter, milk and sugar were lower, but the price of three of these four is normally lower during summers than during winters.

DEATH CLAIMED HIM

Parachute Failed to Open When Man Leaped From Column of Victory.

Berlin, Sept. 23.—A man named Buettner jumped from the top of the famous Column of Victory in the Tiergarten and was instantly killed. The column is 245 feet high.

Buettner had agreed with a bioscope concern to make the jump with a parachute from the summit of the column. The operators of the moving picture machine were all ready and a big crowd was watching when Buettner ascended the staircase. He lost no time in making the jump from the top. The parachute failed to act, and he came down like a stone and was dead when the onlookers reached the spot.

SEEKING TROUBLE

Miss Leigh Still Is in a Belligerent Frame of Mind.

Dublin, Sept. 23.—Miss Mary Leigh, who was released from Mount Joy prison because she was too ill to be kept there any longer, according to noted physicians, is not too sick to plan for a resumption of violence. She sent a letter to a suffrage meeting here in which she announced that if her fellow prisoner in the jail, Mrs. Gladys Evans, was not released in a few days she (Miss Leigh), would lead an assault on Mount Joy prison, when "the issue would only be decided by victory or death."

Fired at Skulking Men.

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 23.—A company of the state militia, patrolling the Cabin creek strike district, fired several rounds at a party of skulking men who had attempted to set fire to the $20,000 tipple of the Carbon Coal company at South Carbon. One man was probably fatally wounded and several others are believed to have been struck by bullets. Three tipples in this district have been burned.

The President Declines.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 23.—President Taft received an invitation from Thomas Bertwistle, secretary of the campaign committee of the Socialist party, to enter a joint debate on the issues of the campaign with the presidential candidate of the Socialist party, Eugene V. Debs. The president wired a reply that he is not taking an active part in the present campaign and therefore would decline to enter the debate.

Both Sides Want Him.

Washington, Sept. 23.—Paul Peck, Jr., seven months old, son of the aviator killed at Chicago last week, is the subject of legal warfare between his grandparents for his custody. The child was orphaned by Peck's death. Paternal and maternal grandparents are suing for his possession.

Escaped Into Indiana.

Carmi, Ill., Sept. 23.—Chase Bray, a farmer, living five miles east of here, drove to the home of John Anselment, a neighboring farmer, called Anselment to the door and shot him to death. Bray escaped and the officers are searching for him. It is believed he escaped into Indiana.

DYNAMITERS TRIAL SET FOR NEXT WEEK

Both the Government and the Defense Ready.

Indianapolis, Sept. 23.—Scheduled to begin in federal court Oct. 1, a week from next Tuesday, is the trial of the dynamite cases, in which fifty-one defendants will appear here, and which, it is predicted, will be one of the most extraordinary criminal cases in American history. Fifty-four persons are named in the indictments, which allege a general conspiracy to ship explosives in violation of the interstate commerce laws, but of this number only fifty-one will be here.

Two of the fifty-four defendants, John J. McNamara and his brother, James B. McNamara, are serving sentences in the California state prison, and a third, John J. McCray, formerly a member of the executive board of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, never has been arrested. It is believed from investigations made by government agents that McCray is dead. He once lived in Wheeling, W. Va.

So far as is known now, both the government and the defense is ready to proceed at once with the trials. Judge Albert B. Anderson will preside. It is understood that the idea of asking for a change of venue to another judge has been abandoned by the defense.

Subpoenas for about 120 witnesses have been issued by the government.

Complaisant New Hampshire Husband Indorses "Affinity" Program.

Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 23.—The shifting problem of the human triangle probably never assumed so strange a phase as in the extraordinary heart affairs of Mrs. Mollie Pearson, wife of John N. Pearson, a merchant here, and Fred L. Trask, who have left Portsmouth to begin their lives together anew with the consent of the deserted husband. Trask leaves a wife to whom he was married eleven years ago, while the Pearsons have been married about twelve years.

When it became apparent that Trask and Mrs. Pearson were infatuated, according to Mr. Pearson, the husband questioned them and came to the decision that the quicker they were allowed to go away together the sooner they would tire of each other. A nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pearson accompanied the couple.

Crackman Caught in the Act.

Indianapolis, Sept. 23.—George Riden, twenty-four years old, of Ben Davis, Ind., a safeblower, was captured early Sunday morning by Patrolman Arthur Fields, who surprised Riden while he was at work on a safe in a saloon operated by Jacob Slutsky, River and Oliver avenues. Fields walked in on Riden before the "eggman" had an opportunity to turn from the safe and, with drawn revolver, commanded him to surrender. Riden was locked up.

Religious Contention Settled.

Washington, Sept. 23.—President Taft has decided that the order of Robert G. Valentine, who recently resigned as United States commissioner of Indian affairs, prohibiting the use of religious garb or insignia in the Indian schools and missions, shall not be revived. The order, which was issued last January, was promptly revoked by the secretary of the interior under direction of President Taft.

Last Day For Chester Jordan.

Boston, Sept. 23.—Chester S. Jordan, the young Somerville man who murdered his wife on Sept. 1, 1903, in their flat in Boston and caused the dismembered body into a trunk, will be put to death at the state prison early tomorrow morning.

LEAGUE BALL FOR RUSHVILLE?

Story From Cincinnati States That K. I. O. Organization May Take in Locals and Newcastle.

LISTENS GOOD TO FANS HERE

Manager Maibaugh Favors Proposition But Would Rather Get Berth in State League.

Rushville may see its base ball team playing league ball next year. A story coming from Cincinnati states that the K. I. O. League expects to enlarge next year and that Rushville and Newcastle may be added to the league.

It is not known whether Newcastle would give up its berth in the Indiana State, but Manager Maibaugh of the local team looks favorably on the proposition. It is understood that the State league contemplates a change in its circuit next season and while the K. I. O. league is an older league the local fans would rather see Rushville given a berth in the Indiana League. Of course this early in the game the league business is all talk but it is believed Rushville could hold its own if given a chance at either organization.

The following from Sunday's Cincinnati Enquirer tells of the K. I. O. League proposed expansion:

The K. I. O. League may branch out next season into a larger family. There is every likelihood that instead of six teams the league will have eight clubs on the circuit by the time play is called in 1913. Although the past season was indeed a rough one, and it is quite early yet, the managers are already working on the scheme of enlarging the membership and hope to have everything well in order for the first meeting this winter. The definite plans are not known but it is believed that the two new clubs will come from Indiana. This would give the league three clubs for the Hoosier State, as Richmond is already a member. Rushville and Newcastle are the towns, it is believed, which will be invited to come into the organization. The latter is anxious to join a league and if not the K. I. O., will probably go in the Indiana. The team there had quite a successful season this year, playing to large crowds every Sunday. Newcastle is a good town, and if secured would no doubt hold its own. Richmond would like to see both of these admitted, as it would create a great deal of interest in that section of Indiana.

The make-up of the rest of the league is still somewhat in doubt, but there is every reason to expect that Dayton and Miamisburg, the champion sponge throwers of this season will again be back in the fold along with Middletown and Hamilton. Another team will be from Cincinnati. Several applications have been made to President Martin by some fast clubs. The Bell Telephone boys who have pulled some very interesting contests out of the fire, have inside track, it is said. The Phone Boys will probably use the Hippodrome Park. They have a large following and could no doubt make a success of league ball.

With the amount of bad breaks the up-State managers had this year, it would seem incredible that they are out so early making preparations for next season. However, it is the right dope, and one would be surprised hearing them talk of 1913. They realize that this season was more or less one of those freaky kind, which do not come very often, but crop up every once in a while to cause annoyance and make the managers wish that it had already happened and that they could get back to the real run the next day.

HOW ABOUT FREMONT?

The Indianapolis Star declares editorially that Abraham Lincoln founded the Republican party. This is an interesting bit of historical information whose accuracy is in keeping with most of the other assertions made these days in the columns of that pure and undefiled world-enlightener—Fort Wayne News.

WEATHER MAN WAS AGAIN ON THE JOB

Rain, For Second Time Interfered With Ball Game Between Newcastle and Locals.

MAY COME HERE NEXT SUNDAY

Once again the weather man interfered making it impossible for Rushville and Newcastle to play ball. It was the second time within as many weeks that the game has been postponed. The fans in both cities were greatly disappointed as a fast game was expected.

Manager Dal Williams of Newcastle cancelled the game early Sunday morning as it would have been impossible to play. The special train was called off and the fans spent the day talking of "what might have been."

It is not known where the game next Sunday will be played, but as Newcastle is scheduled to play here it is expected that the Maxwells will come. Manager Maibaugh will know tomorrow whether or not Williams will bring his team to this city.

Rushville will be represented this fall by a fast independent foot ball team if present arrangements go through. There is a good supply of material in the city and it is hoped to put a winning team in the field. The games will be played on the ball grounds in South Main street and the fastest independent teams in the State will be brought here for games.

It has been several years since a good foot ball team represented Rushville and for this reason considerable interest is being shown. A meeting will be held Wednesday night at the Arcade pool room when plans and an organization will be perfected. All candidates are requested to attend the meeting.

BEGIN PRACTICE.

Basket ball practice was begun at the Graham high school building last week. The prospect for a winning five this year in the high school is said to be more encouraging this year than last. The team was unfortunate last year in losing most of its games, not because of such poor playing, but more, it seemed, on account of tough luck. L. B. Smelser is coaching the team this year.

The C. W. B. M. of the Main Street Christian church will hold a basket supper Monday evening September 30, instead of Wednesday evening, October 2. This change is made on account of the Biederswolf meeting.
